EDWARD GEDDINGS, M.D.

The Scientific departments of the University are provided with ample apparatus for full illustration of methods pursued on scientific investigations. The departments of Physics, Chemistry and Engineering occupy each a floor of a building 100x50 feet. The Lecture halls, apparatus, model and drawing rooms, and laboratories are most conveniently arranged, and furnished with gas and an abundant supply of water. The apparatus of these departments is new and bought of the best makers. By means of it, the instruction is made thoroughly practical. In the laboratories students are enabled to handle apparatus and perform by themselves the various experiments and tests; while the large collection of working models attached to the Engineering, enables students to form correct ideas as to the details of construction. This department is also supplied with full sets of Surveying Instruments, and every session the Senior class are taken on a railroad survey, where practical field work is done. A farm of seventy acres, on which experiments are made, is attached to the department of Agriculture.

EXPENSES: Tuition in Franklin College and in the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is free, but a matriculation fee of $10.00, and a library fee of $5.00 are required. The necessary expenses of a student, including both of these fees, and board, washing, fuel and lights, are $200 per annum.
