College Invalids

Below are presented the names of such young gentlemen as suffer from regularly irregular attacks of various and divers diseases, and are compelled, by the severity of those attacks, to absent themselves from college at least once a week. The fact that the attacks generally occur while a circus is in town or a game of base ball is in progress at the park, should not prejudice the minds of physicians in the treatment of these cases:

W. H. POPE, Gout	Tuesdays and Fridays
V. L. SMITH, General Debility	Wednesdays
T. W. REED, Hypochondria	Sundays
L. L. KNIGHT, Ennui	Mondays and Thursdays
HENRY JACKSON, Risibility	Mondays, Tuesdays and Saturdays
L. L. RAY, Affability	Always
J. Z. DANIEL, Generosity	Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays
F. Z. CURRY (won't tell)	One week in three
I. S. K. ANSON, Loss of Appetite	Very seldom
D. S. SANFORD, Had to see a man	Every other day
R. F. MADDOX, Diffidence	Chronic case
JOHN LITTLE, Smallpox	During church time
A. W. GRIGGS, Consumption	During meal hours
