The Junior.

---

The Junior, oh! the Junior,
The best, the only class ;
The Senior is conceited,
The Freshman is an ass,
The Sophomoric fellow,
His faults he cannot screen,
Is neither white nor yellow,
But simply, slightly green.

The Junior is perfection;
The Faculty's delight,
He can cut cross-sections
Completely out of sight.
He's long since cut Lucy Cobb,
And snows may come and go,
"Species of ice" at "town toughs,"
The Juniors never throw.

He never tricks, cuts nor crams ;
Finals are his delight ;
He goes to bed at nine p. m.
And sleeps the livelong night.
His drink is strickly H<sub>2</sub> O,
Dispensary's unknown ;
He never speaks to Freshmen,
His "wild oats" are not sown.

He loves to woo the maidens,
And break their little hearts,
He is certain to accomplish
Whatever he once starts.
And so the festive Junior
Is worshipped all around.
He's the pride of college
And just the toast of town.

BY ONE OF THEM.
