I.

You may talk about the classes in our old U. of G.,
But there is only one class in this world for me.
When you see the jolly Soph, as he beats old Blumenthal,
You may put it in your cranium—he's a sport, that's all.

II.

And though such a heavy sport, he's the clev'rest boy in town,
He "kills" Polly, "shoots" Zip, knocks all the Profs. down;
Studies "steen" hours each night, bums two o'clock afe;
And this jolly Sophomore's quite impossible to fail.

III.

In athletics, he gets there, oh yes, with both feet.
Carries off all the honors, is perfect, complete;
Is confident, careful, and awful hard to down;
Is just the pet and darling of this gay old college town.

IV.

He never walks by Lucy Cobb, he's cut them, "doncher know;"
And in the Athens parlors his welcome's warm as snow.
He has gay fancies for horses, pool he also enjoys,
For our festive Sophomore is simply "one of the boys."

V.

Comparing us with Seniors, what contrasts you will find,
We simply "outclass" them as leaders of mankind.
Next year we'll all (?) be Juniors, and as we near that shore,
We bid farewell to the happy year spent as a Sophomore.
