

Junior Class.

Name.	Course.	Address.
Robin Adair	B. S.	Atlanta.
A. Pratt Adams, X Φ	A. B.	Savannah.
J. F. Alexander, K A	Elective	Atlanta.
G. F. Alford	Elective	Willingham.
C. L. Ayers	Elective	Carnesville.
G. N. Barker, ≈ A E	Elective	Atlanta.
Judge Barnes	Elective	Athens.
W. S. Blun, Φ Δ Θ	A. B.	Savannah.
†George Brunsen, ≈ A E	Elective	Athens.
†S. M. Carter, ≈ A E	Elective	Carters.
R. M. Charlton, ≈ A E	A. B.	Savannah.
Arthur Clarke, X Φ	Elective	Atlanta.
Z. L. Cobb, ≈ A E	Elective	Athens.
Lawrence Cothran, ≈ A E	A. B.	Rome.
E. J. Crawford	B. S.	Athens.
T. M. Denmark, ≈ A E	A. B.	Savannah.
†J. T. Dennis, X Φ	B. S.	Eatonton.
E. M. Donaldson, K A	Elective	Bainbridge.
†J. S. Dougherty, X Φ	Elective	Atlanta.
Paul H. Doyal	A. B.	Cave Spring.
R. A. Dunn	A. B.	Bullochville.
Raiford Falligant, ≈ N	Elective	Savannah.
Garrard Glenn, ≈ A E	A. B.	Atlanta.
J. J. Goodrum, Δ T Δ	A. B.	Newnan.
†J. M. Goldsmith, X Φ	Elective	Atlanta.
Leonard Haas	A. B.	Atlanta.
M. S. Haas	A. B.	Savannah.
F. M. Hailey	Elective	Hartwell.
Cosmo Hardee	A. B.	Savannah.
†H. H. Harris, X Φ	B. S.	Athens.
D. G. Heidt, Jr.	Elective	Guyton.
T. M. Hicks	A. B.	Wrightsville.
M. M. Hirsch	A. B.	Atlanta.

†Left College.

Name.	Course.	Address.
D. V. Hopps, $\Phi \Delta \Theta$	Elective	Savannah.
Henry Hull, $\approx A E$	B. S.	Athens.
†Roy Jenkins, $X \Phi$	Elective	Eatonton.
T. B. Johnson, $\approx A E$	A. B.	Griffin.
A. C. Jones, $K A$	Elective	Columbus.
Ed. Lyndon, $\approx A E$	Elective	Athens.
R. G. Mason	B. S.	Fairburn.
†F. R. Mitchell, $X \Phi$	Elective	Atlanta.
A. J. McBride, $\approx A E$	Elective	Atlanta.
J. C. McMichael, $K A$	Elective	Fort Valley.
F. W. Moore, $\Delta T \Delta$	Elective	Atlanta.
Lee Morris	A. B.	Athens.
Ö. A. Partridge	Elective	Lincolnton.
G. D. Perdue	A. B.	Greensboro.
T. W. Rucker, Jr., $\approx A E$	B. S.	Atlanta.
K. D. Sanders, $\Phi \Delta \Theta$	A. B.	Penfield.
Arthur Seidell	B. Ag.	Atlanta.
Brantley Slater	Elective	Ivanhoe.
J. S. Smith	Elective	Reidsville.
J. J. Stephens, $\Delta T \Delta$	Elective	Atlanta.
G. F. Stephenson, $A T \Omega$	Elective	Bowdon.
J. B. Sullivan, $\approx A E$	B. S.	Rome.
J. B. Thompson	B. S.	Athens.
W. A. Thompson	A. B.	Flovilla.
H. S. Walden	A. B.	Grange.
J. C. Wheatley, $X \Phi$	Elective	Americus.
T. A. Whittaker, $X \Phi$	Elective	LaGrange.
J. H. Wynn, $A T \Omega$	Elective	Kedron.

†Left College.

* * * History of the Class of '99. * * *

THE making of a history in a State University is but the building of a monument in honor of the State.

Each year the graduating class in our University lays one more stone in the marble fabric which shall stand forth to future generations as representative of Georgia manhood. In the near future, when the historian shall come to survey this magnificent structure, the most perfect specimen of the rare display of workmanship will bear the simple inscription—" '99."

From the day when first we came together from the different parts of the State and joined ourselves into a class organization, we have always been united in a common cause. Irrespective of personal interests or selfish motives, the members of the Class of '99 have always stood as a unit for the highest advancement, not only of their class but of the University at large. Their motto has always been "Georgia now or never, yes, forever and forever," and when the different classes have met each other in any contest whatever, '99 has never failed to exhibit that fraternal spirit which has made her the model class in college. She has never failed to stand as a unit, and herein lies the basis on which we have builded a successful career. Our class is characterized by its uniformity of action, and for that high degree of what college men term Class Spirit, with which she is endowed. In this respect '99 has taught the University a beautiful lesson, and one that she seems to have learned well and made very effective in the demonstration of what our sister colleges call, Georgia Grit.

While I lay down unity as the basis of our success, I do not attribute to unity alone the long list of brilliant achievements that has made the history of the class, in a large degree, the history of the University for the last three years. The fable of the bundle of willows would lose its moral if each of the seven did not exist individually. So while '99 as a class has made her history the history of the college, her members as individuals have carried that characteristic spirit into every organization in college, and have endowed college life with many new features. They are to be found associated with, and often at the head of, every movement that tends to the development of a higher and a purer standard of moral, social, and intellectual advancement in the University.

As Freshmen, the class of '99 won a place in college life, never before granted to that seemingly despised body. Our class had not been in college long until it began to feel its strength. It soon became notable that '99, though young, was strong, not only in numbers but in talent. The class of '99 brought to the University the largest amount of what an ancient Zeta Chi would have called "Fresh meat" that had ever been known in the history of the college, and she has maintained her supremacy of numbers as well as of talent. The greatness of her numbers led to the recognition of her talent, and even as Freshmen they took the initiative and the commencement of '96 gave birth to a new feature of that season in a Freshman german.

The Sophomore year of the class brought forth an unbroken line of victories. In athletics, she was ably represented on the 'Varsity Football eleven, and the drooping colors of '97 and '98 (to say nothing of the Freshman) were evidences of her baseball fame. She put forth a class team that not only won the pennant without losing a game, but defeated the 'Varsity with a handsome score. On the Track team she furnished a representative who won seven of the thirteen points for Georgia in the S. I. A. A. meet in Nashville. She furnished the champion in the Tennis tournament, winning the Patterson cup. In oratory, she also came out victorious, capturing the Clyde Shropshire medal, and furnishing a list of declaimers for commencement hitherto unsurpassed.

In social circles she again took the initiative and for the first time in the history of the University, a Sophomore hop added to the attractiveness of commencement exercises.

The Junior year opened up to the class a new epoch. Its arrival found members of '99 at the head of nearly every organization in college. In athletics she furnished the manager of '97 'Varsity Football, and five out of the eleven. In the fall field-day she almost monopolized the events and immortalized herself by winning the first class relay race ever witnessed on the University campus. She also furnishes the present manager of the '98 Track team, the captain of '98 'Varsity Baseball, and the manager of the Tennis courts; while the fate of '98 'Varsity Football has been entrusted to '99 who furnishes its future captain.

In oratory she again captured the Clyde Shropshire medal and the present management of the Oratorical Association.

In literary achievements she knows but one result—success. She is represented on the staff of all the college publications, while, in accordance with her former record, she took the initiative in the organization of a new literary club, and the University is favored with another treat from the hands of '99.

Here ends our Junior history. My task is finished, but dear to my heart is the proud consciousness that such is not the production of my own creative imagination but a chapter of facts in the history of the class of '99. We have but one more chapter, and that chapter will be what we make it. May the past be an inspiration for greater achievements in the future and when the end shall have come, may it be said of '99 that she knew no watchword but duty, and recognized no compromise for truth.

HISTORIAN.