From 1732 to date seven designed seals have been used. The two seals of the Trustees, 1732-1733; 1733-1752. The Seal of the Royal Province, 1754-1777; the Great Seal of the new state, 1777-1798. Exceptions to the use of the 1799 seal were the Great Seal of Georgia during the Southern Confederacy and the fraudulent seal of the Carpetbag government, 1871.

GEORGIA STATE FLAG

The first official flag of the State was established by the Act of October 17th, 1879 (Acts 1879, p. 114). The second, and present, official flag of the State was established by the Act of February 13th 1956 (Acts 1956, p. 38), codified as Sect. 86-1201 of the 1933 Code. It is described as follows:

"The flag of the State of Georgia shall be a vertical band of blue next to the flagstaff, and occupying one-third of the entire flag; the remainder of the space to be a square of two-thirds the length of the flag, having the ground red; thereon a broad saltier of blue, bordered with white, emblazoned with white mullets or five pointed stars, thirteen in number, corresponding in number to that of the Confederate States of America as recognized by the Confederate States Congress;* so that the said remainder shall be the same as the union of the flag of the Confederate States as approved and cited in Statutes at Large of the Confederate States Congress, 1st and 2nd Sessions, 1862-3-4, and approved May 1, 1863, such remainder being popularly known as the Battle Flag of the Confederacy. On the blue field shall be stamped, painted or embroidered the coat of arms of the State."

Flag Allegiance

Whereas, it is a part of the duty of every patriotic citizen to pledge allegiance to the flag of our country, and whereas every man, woman, and child of this State owes a similar allegiance to the flag of Georgia and whereas said State flag along with our National flag should be displayed on all public holidays and in all public schools and civic gatherings:

Now be it resolved by the House with the Senate concurring, that the following be adopted as the pledge of allegiance of the State Flag: "I pledge allegiance to the Georgia Flag and to the principles for which it stands; Wisdom, Justice, and Moderation."

Be it further resolved, that said State flag be displayed at appropriate occasions in the public schools of this State, and in all patriotic meetings, and the citizens of our State be requested to take the above allegiance. Approved March 28, 1935. [Ga. Laws, 1935, p. 1253.]

* Confederate States Congress recognized Kentucky and Missouri, which accounts for the 13 stars. Each of these states had Union and Confederate Governments. Representatives of their Confederate Governments were admitted to the Confederate States Congress.

LIVE OAK AS EMBLEMATIC TREE

No. 14

A Resolution

WHEREAS in many of the States of the Union some tree indigenous to the soil of the State has been chosen as an emblem of its sovereignty; and

WHEREAS hitherto the General Assembly of Georgia has made no such selection; and

WHEREAS the live oak, being a tree indigenous to the soil of our State and especially flourishing along the Coastal plains and islands thereof where the first settlers and founders of the State resided, and which tree is so closely associated with our early history, and particularly with the lives of many famous Georgians such as General James Edward Oglethorpe, John Wesley and Sidney Lanier.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the House of Representatives of Georgia, the Senate concurring, that, at the suggestion and request of Edmund Burke Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the live oak be and the same is hereby adopted as and declared to be the official tree emblematic of the State of Georgia.

GEORGIA'S STATE FLOWER—THE CHEROKEE ROSE
STATE FLOWER

The Cherokee Rose which grows luxuriantly in all sections of the State was adopted as Georgia’s State Flower by the Georgia Federation of Women's Club and confirmed by the State Legislature in 1916. Originally thought to be indigenous to Southern soil, it is now the opinion of the National Department of Agriculture that the rose was introduced into the State perhaps directly from China or from China by way of England. One well-known horticulturist agreeing with this view gives the year 1757 as the date of its introduction into England and advances the belief that it reached the United States shortly afterwards. The name, Cherokee Rose, is a local appellation derived from the Cherokee Indians who widely distributed the plant, which elsewhere is known by the botanical name of rosa sinica. Growing wild the rose is a high climbing shrub, frequently attaining the proportions of a vine, is excessively thorny and generously supplied with leaves of a vivid green. Its blooming time is in the early spring but favorable conditions will produce a second flowering in the fall of the year. In color the rose is a waxy white with large golden center and the petals are of an exquisite velvety texture. Because of its hardy nature the plant is well adapted to hedge purposes and has been used extensively in this fashion throughout the South. The action of the General Assembly in naming this the floral emblem of the State is contained in the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, In many of the States of the Union some flower indigenous to the soil of the State has been chosen as an emblem of its sovereignty; and

WHEREAS, Hitherto the General Assembly of Georgia has made no such selection; and

WHEREAS, The Cherokee Rose, having its origin among the aborigines of the northern portion of the State of Georgia, is indigenous to its soil, and grows with equal luxuriance in every county of the State.

Be it therefore by the House of Representatives of Georgia, the Senate concurring, resolved, That, at the suggestion and request of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Cherokee Rose be and the same is hereby adopted as and declared to be the floral emblem of the State of Georgia.

GEORGIA'S STATE BIRD—BROWN THRASHER
THE BROWN THRASHER

Georgia State Bird

By official proclamation of the Governor on April 6, 1935, the Brown Thrasher became the Georgia State Bird. The Thrasher is common in the eastern United States, ranging north to Canada and west to the Rockies. This bird is migratory in the North, it winters in the southern states. The Brown Thrasher is almost a foot long. It has a rich brown color with a white stripe on its wings; brown feathers stripe the creamy whiteness of its breast. The Brown Thrasher is one of the finest songsters native to America; it is a very fine mimic, thus resembling the mockingbird, to which it is closely related. It nests in low bushes or brush piles, and its eggs are thickly peppered with brown specks. The Brown Thrasher, though vegetarian in part, is a true friend to the farmer because of the grasshoppers, caterpillars, and worms it destroys.
"GEORGIA" was made the official song of the State of Georgia by act of the General Assembly 1922, p. 1198. This arrangement was adopted by act of General Assembly 1958, pp., 506-07.

GEORGIA DAY

“Georgia Day” February 12, Observance

Miss Frances L. Mitchell, of Athens, Georgia, first suggested celebrating the day of Georgia’s birth—February 12, in her book, Georgia Land and People, published in 1900 by the Franklin Printing & Publishing Company, Atlanta. As a result of Miss Mitchell’s suggestion, the Joseph Habersharn Chapter, Georgia Society, Daughters of the American Resolution, first began to agitate the adoption of February 12 as “Georgia Day”. The first Governor to urge that the day should be set apart was Joseph M. Terrell, Governor, 1902-1907.

During the administration of Joseph M. Brown in 1909, John M. Slaton, while President of the State Senate, introduced the first bill in the Legislature, which made it obligatory upon the public schools of Georgia to hold exercises on Feb. 12, “Georgia Day”. See Senate Journal, 1909, pp. 235, 278, 286. The bill was approved Aug. 13, 1909, and the Act as passed is quoted below in full from Georgia Laws, 1909, p. 190 as follows:

“GEORGIA DAY,” FEBRUARY 12, OBSERVANCE
BY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

No. 113.

An Act to provide that the twelfth day of February in each year shall be observed in the public schools of this State, under the name of “Georgia Day,” by appropriate exercise; and for other purposes.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, That the twelfth day of February in each year shall be observed in the public schools of this State, under the name of “Georgia Day,” as the anniversary of the landing of the first colonists in Georgia under Oglethorpe; and it shall be the duty of the State School Commissioner through the County School Commissioners, annually to cause the teachers of the schools under their supervision to conduct on that day exercises in which the pupils shall take part, consisting of written compositions, readings, recitations, addresses, or other exercises, relating to this State and its history and to the lives of distinguished Georgians. When said day falls on Sunday, it shall be observed on the following Monday . . .

For later legislative action see, Georgia Laws, 1941, pp. 349-350, or Section 32-1503 of the Code of Georgia, 1933.
GEORGIAN'S CREED

WHEREAS, the State of Georgia has never officially adopted a “Georgian’s Creed” for the benefit of its citizens; and

WHEREAS, the adoption of a dignified and patriotic “Georgian’s Creed” would be of great help to all our citizens and particularly to the youth of our great State; and

WHEREAS, the following “Georgian’s Creed” composed by Mrs. A. H. (Sexta Eavenson) Strickland, one of Georgia's great patriotic leaders, has been adopted by the following patriotic organizations, to-wit:

Crawford W. Long Chapter, U. D. C.,
American Legion Auxiliary, Atlanta Unit, No. 1,
American Legion, Atlanta Post, No. 1,
Fifth District, American Legion of Georgia,
Forty and Eight of Georgia,
Waldo M. Slaton American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 140, Peachtree Hills Womans Club,
Barrow County Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Elberton Chapter, Service Star Legion.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the House of Representatives of the State of Georgia, the Senate concurring, that the following “Georgian’s Creed” be adopted as the official “Georgian’s Creed” for all citizens of our beloved State and its use authorized in all Georgia Schools and at any public or private meetings of the citizens of the State:

“Accepting, as I do, the principles upon which Georgia was founded, not for self but others;—its Democratic form of Government, based on ‘Wisdom, Justice and Moderation’; its natural resources;—its Educational, Social and Religious advantages, making it a most desirable place to live—I will strive to be a pure upright Citizen, rejecting the evils—loving and emulating the good.

I further believe it is my duty to defend it against all enemies, to honor and obey its laws, to apply the Golden Rule in all my dealings with my fellow Citizens.

I feel a sense of pride in the history and heroic deeds accomplished by my forebears, and shall endeavor to so live that my State will be proud of me for doing my bit to make my State a better Commonwealth for future generations.”

One of Georgia's able and great patriotic citizens: Chairman, Legislation, Georgia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy; representing numerous patriotic women's organizations in placing proper busts in the Hall of Fame in the rotunda of the State Capitol.
BRIEF HISTORY OF THE HALL OF FAME

The Georgia Hall of Fame was a creation of the Legislative Committee of the Georgia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy. It was conceived in 1953 under the administration of Mrs. C. Robert Walker of Griffin. Mrs. Forrest E. Kibler, originator of the idea, presented it for approval to the Convention of the Georgia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy in October 1954. It was then presented to the General Assembly of Georgia in January 1955 for passage and approved February 7, 1955. The original Committee appointed by Mrs. C. Robert Walker in 1953 was composed of Mrs. Forrest E. Kibler, Chairman; Mrs. Max S. Flynt, Mrs. L. Cary Bittick, Mrs. Edgar M. Lancaster, Mrs. C. Robert Walker and later added Mrs. Mary Givens Bryan. This work was begun and completed under the administration of Mrs. C. Robert Walker, Mrs. Ernest R. Harris, Mrs. W. B. Childs and Mrs. Lee H. Lyle. The establishing of the Hall of Fame For Illustrious Georgians will go down in history as an achievement of Governor Marvin Griffin. As the original idea grew, the Committee decided to invite other patriotic organizations to sponsor busts of their period.

Between 1953 and 1960 thirteen busts of Illustrious Georgians were made by the renowned sculptor, Bryant Baker, (English born), of New York City, and dedicated and placed in The Hall of Fame in the rotunda of the State Capitol, in the following order:

STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICES
BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

THE GOVERNOR

The Governor of the State of Georgia is a constitutional officer, recognized as such in all of the State Constitutions from the first of 1777 through the eighth of 1945. As the head of the Executive Branch he is vested with many powers and charged with duties, too numerous to be listed here. He is the commander-in-chief of the National Guard (and also the army, navy and militia) of the State. By law he is ex-officio a member of approximately 35 bureaus, boards, commissions and committees and, also by law, he is restricted from being a member of others. He has the power of veto over enactments and resolutions of the General Assembly, and no bill can become a law without his approval, unless repassed over his veto. He has the power to make appointments between sessions of the General Assembly to fill vacancies in appointive offices, but all original appointments made by him must be made with the consent of the Senate or confirmed thereby; he can likewise appoint to fill unexpired terms in elective offices until the next regular or special election.

The Governor is elected on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in each fourth year after 1946, at a general election at which he and all other State officers are elected for four-year terms. His inauguration occurs during the first week of the next following session of the General Assembly, and his term of office commences with his inauguration. The minimum qualifications for the office of Governor are age of thirty years and citizenship in the State for six years and United States for fifteen years. Under no condition can any person be Governor for two successive terms.

S. ERNEST VAN DIVER
Governor

PETER ZACK GEER, JR.

Executive Secretary

HENRY G. NEAL
Assistant Attorney General
Executive Department
LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The office of Lieutenant Governor of the State was created by the 1945 Constitution (Art. V, Sec. 1, Par. 7). During the incumbency of the Governor, The Lieutenant Governor is the President of the Senate and a member of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Commission, but upon the death, resignation or disability of the former he then exercises the executive power of the government. In such cases, he continues to act as Governor until the election and qualification of a successor to fill the Governor's unexpired term. The Lieutenant Governor can not become a candidate at such election unless he resigns the office to which he had been elected, his resignation to become effective upon the qualification of the successor to the unexpired term.

The Lieutenant Governor is elected on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in each fourth year after 1946, at a general election at which the Governor and all other State officers are elected for four-year terms. The minimum qualifications for the office must necessarily be the same as those for the office of Governor.

SECRETARY OF STATE, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Secretary of State and the Surveyor-General were not designated as public officers in the first two State Constitutions, but both offices were created by the Constitution of 1798 (Art. II, Sec. 12). However, the Act of September 16, 1777 (Watkins, p. 206; Marbury-Crawford, p. 318) was the first of several which specifically outlined certain duties of both in connection with grants of land. Both such officers were also named in the next three Constitutions, but only the Secretary of State was named in the 1877 and 1945 Constitutions. Two substantially similar Acts were passed on November 22, 1861 (Acts 1861, p. 72) and December 15, 1866 (Acts 1865-6, p. 249) which provided that the two offices be consolidated and that the Secretary of State perform all of the duties of the Surveyor-General.

Under the Act of February 8, 1799 (Watkins, p. 715; Marbury-Crawford, p. 413) the Secretary of State was made the Keeper of the Great Seal of the State. Article 8 (Sec. 87) Ga. Laws 1931, p. 35 transfers to the Secretary of State all powers, duties and functions formerly reposed in the Securities Commission; the Securities Commission is abolished and the office of Examiner is transferred to the office of Secretary of State and is made subordinate to him. The Act of March 3, 1953 (Acts 1953, p. 423; 1933 Code, Title 97) named him as Commissioner of Securities. The Act of August 17, 1906 (1933 Code, Sec. 22-1701) named him as Corporation Commissioner. Under various Acts codified in the 1933 Code, he is member of the Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation (Sec. 47-1103); Refunding Bond Commission (Sec. 87-501a); Chmn., Committee to report on all bills and resolutions for payment of claims against the State (Secs. 47-504 through 47-508); Member-Chmn., Jekyll Island State Park Authority (Ga. Laws, 1957, p. 608); Ex-officio Member, Stone Mountain Memorial Assn. (Ga. Laws 1958, p. 61); Ex-officio Member-Chmn., Election Laws Study Committee (Ga. Laws, 1957, p. 257); Elections Commission, Ex-officio Chmn. (Ga. Laws 1959, p. 59); Mineral Leasing Commission (Code Sec. 91-118).

The term of office of the Secretary of State is four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. The minimum qualifications for the office are citizenship for ten years, residence in Georgia for six years and age of twenty-five years.

The Act of August 28, 1931 (1933 Code Sec. 84-101) gave to the Secretary of State the power of appointment of the Joint-Secretary of State Examining Boards, who, under the former's jurisdiction, serves as secretary of 25 Boards which determine the qualifications of and admission to as many professions and trades. The Act of August 28, 1931 (1933 Code, Sec. 40-803) gave him the power of appointment of the Director of the Department of Archives and History, which was placed under his jurisdiction. The Act of February 21, 1951 (1933 Code, Secs. 40-802a and 40-809a) gave him the power of appointment of the five members and the Executive Secretary-Director of the Georgia Historical Commission which was also placed under his jurisdiction.

Some of the duties and powers of the Secretary of State are enumerated in Chaps. 40-6 and 40-7 of the 1933 Code. Among them, in addition to handling and preserving all of the records pertaining to land grants and the surveys thereof, he is charged with the responsibility of the proper conduct of general and local elections from the initial printing of the ballots to the final certification. He must prepare all commissions for and bonds of public officers, both civil and military, and must keep a record thereof. He must preserve the originals of all acts and resolutions of the General Assembly, make immediate statewide distribution thereof, and compile the same (1933 Code, Sec. 40-1902G). He has general supervision and control over all State-chartered building and loan associations (1933 Code, Chap. 16-4). He is the agent to accept service of summons in suits against foreign corporations and non-resident owners or operators of motor vehicles (1933 Code, Secs. 22-1509 and 68-801). He is charged with many executive and ministerial duties attendant upon the creation of Corporations (1933 Code, Chap. 22-18). He is the final authority to determine the true boundary line in a dispute between two or more counties. (1933 Code, Sec. 23-405). He keeps a record of all Notaries Public appointed throughout the State (1933 Code Sec. 71-105 and Sec. 24-2713).

Act approved March 3, 1955 (Ga. Laws, pp. 350-51) created a division in the office of Secretary of State, known as the Georgia State Museum of Science and Industry, and gave him the power of appointment of a director of the division, which is located in the State Capitol Building. By Executive Order of Jan. 11, 1955 the Secretary of State was made Keeper of Public Buildings and Grounds, Executive Mansion and grounds, and four Confederate cemeteries as follows: Kingston, Resaca, Cassville, and Marietta. Act 38, Senate Resolution No. 33, 1959 places three additional Confederate Cemeteries under him, i.e. Madison, Jonesboro and Barnesville. Executive Order of March 13, 1956 transferred the maintenance and upkeep of the old State Capitol Building in Milledgeville to the Secretary of State.

The Department of Archives and History was created by the Act of August 20, 1918 (Acts 1918, p. 137). The Act of August 28, 1931 (Acts 1931, p. 38) placed the Department under the control of the Secretary of State, giving him power to adopt rules for the government thereof and to employ all necessary personnel. The 1918 Act also created the office of Director, as the administrative and executive head of the Department (Sec. 40-803 of the 1933 Code). Although the name of the Department is self-explanatory, the Act enumerated at great length the various kinds of public records to be deposited therein. Stated in the briefest terms, it is the duty of the Director to take into custody and to preserve in the Department all public records not in current use, from the earliest days up to the present time, of the Colony of Georgia, the State of Georgia, and all counties which use this depository. All of those books and records are in process of being microfilmed. Under a Resolution of August 21, 1929 (Acts 1929, p. 1516), the Department is permanently, although very inadequately, housed in the former Rhodes residence at 1516 Peachtree Street, N. W., Atlanta, as stipulated in the deed of gift conveying said property to the State.

The Director is appointed and commissioned by the Secretary of State, for a six-year term. A special duty imposed upon the Director is the biennial compilation and publication of the Official and Statistical Register of Georgia, containing all of the information to be found in this edition.
MRS. MARY GIVESNS BRYAN

Director

Department of Archives and History

Family details: Mrs. Bryan is the daughter of the late Young Clyde Givens and Janie Lou (Cox) Givens, both residents of LaGrange for many years, and the niece of the late Rev. W. T. Bell (Methodist Minister, North Georgia Conference, 36 years) and Elma Lee (Cox) Bell, residents of Decatur more than 25 years.

SURVEYOR-GENERAL DEPARTMENT

The Surveyor-General was one of the earliest and most important officials of the State, because the grants to every acre of land were based upon his surveys, with copies of his plats being attached. He was first named in the Act of September 16, 1777, but did not become a constitutional officer until so made by the Constitution of 1798. The Active duties and importance of his office gradually decreased as the amount of ungranted land decreased. The office of Surveyor-General has never been abolished, but by the Acts of November 22, 1861 (Acts 1861, p. 72) and December 15, 1866 (Acts 1865-66, p. 249) it was consolidated with the office of the Secretary of State. Under those Acts the latter was required to perform all of the duties of the Surveyor-General and to become the custodian of all of the books, maps, records and other papers connected with the office. This led to the organization of the Surveyor-General Department in the office of the Secretary of State.

In this Department there are assembled all of the existing grant books, survey books, maps, plats, records and other papers pertaining to both headright and lottery grants and the surveys upon which the grants were based, from 1756 to 1866. These records include those of the Surveyor-General's office, the Secretary of State's office, the Comptroller-General's office and the Treasurer's office for that period. They are available to and are in current daily use by attorneys, engineers and surveyors and by other State departments, in connection with county lines and real property lines and titles. They are housed in the Rhodes Memorial Building at 1516 Peachtree Street, N. W., Atlanta 9.

MRS. PHILIP W. BRYANT. Deputy Surveyor-General.

State Museum of Science and Industry, Act. No. 171 (House Bill No. 403), approved March 3, 1955 (Ga. Laws 1955, pp. 350-351), was an Act which created a division in the office of the Secretary of State to be known as the State Museum of Science and Industry; provided for a director of division to be appointed by the Secretary of State. Also provided for the receiving of grants, donations, gifts, etc.

HISTORICAL COMMISSION

The Historical Commission was created by the Act of February 21, 1951 (Acts 1951, p. 789) as a department under the Secretary of State. The primary duty of the Commission is to promote and increase knowledge of the history of the State by permanently preserving and marking all objects, sites, areas, structures or ruins of historic or legendary significance. As supplementary to such duty, the Commission coordinates its work with, and cooperates with, any other State or Federal agency charged with similar duties or engaged in diffusing information; and it assists with other agencies in making such sites or buildings accessible to the public.

The Commission consists of five unsalaried members, all of whom are appointed by the Secretary of State and one whom he designates as its Chairman. The terms of office are for four years each, staggered so that one vacancy occurs in one year, two in the next year and two in the next following year. The Secretary of State also appoints the Secretary of the Commission for a four-year term, and the latter is responsible for executing the directions and policies of the Commission. The Secretary of the Commission has the powers and duties of Director, and is so called.

BAR EXAMINERS, State Board of

The Board of Bar Examiners was created by the Act of December 19, 1898 (Acts 1898, p. 83). As originally constituted, the Board was composed of three "learned and experienced attorneys at law of generally recognized ability and integrity"; the Act of February 15, 1952 (Acts 1952, p. 262) increased their number to five. The Justices of the Supreme Court of Georgia appoint the members of the Board, whose terms are for six years each. Appointees to unexpired term are appointed in like manner. The Board appoints one of its members as its Secretary.

The Supreme Court promulgates the rules governing bar examinations as conducted by the Board, the most recent of which were adopted Nov. 15, 1952 and amended Feb. 17, 1955. The Board prepares the list of questions to be propounded to the applicants, and a majority of the Board is expected to be present at each examination. The employment of other members of the Bar as monitors at the examinations is authorized.

The Board receives no appropriation but is supposed to pay its expenses from the fees paid by the applicants to its Chairman.

The Board shall serve as an advisory board only and shall meet with the Director once each six (6) months, and at such other times as the Director may designate.
THE COMPTROLLER-GENERAL

The Comptroller-General was not designated as a public officer in the first three State Constitutions, but the office was created by the Constitution of 1861 (Art. III, Sec. 2, Par. 8). However, by the Act of December 5, 1799 (Watkins, p. 768), the General Assembly had provided for a Comptroller-General and had defined his duties and powers, merging under him all such as had been theretofore exercised by auditors and treasurers appointed for special purposes. This officer has been functioning continuously since 1799, and the office is specifically provided for in the Constitution of 1945 (Art. V, Sec. 2, Par. 1) and in the 1933 Code (Chaps. 40-14 and 40-15).

The term of office of the Comptroller-General is four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. The minimum qualifications for the office are citizenship for ten years, residence in Georgia for six years and age of twenty-five years.

Among the general duties of his office are the keeping of complete books (balanced every ten days) on all taxes, fees and other funds which the Department of Revenue and all other Departments and Offices pay to and deposit with the State Treasurer, and the signing of all warrants issued to each Department, Board or Commission, with complete books thereon. The Act of August 19, 1912 (Acts 1912, p. 119) created the Insurance Department under the Comptroller-General, naming him Insurance Commissioner and authorizing him to appoint a Deputy Insurance Commissioner and all necessary personnel (1933 Code, Chap. 56). The Act of February 25, 1949 (Acts 1949, p. 1057) named the Insurance Commissioner as Georgia Safety Fire Commissioner, with authority to appoint a State Fire Marshal who in turn appoints his Deputy and other necessary personnel, all to serve during the pleasure of the Safety Fire Commissioner (1933 Code, Chap. 92A-7). Another Act of February 25, 1949 (Acts 1949, p. 1128), known as the Liquefied Petroleum Safety Act, named the Insurance Commissioner as a Commissioner to enforce that Act (1933 Code, Chap. 73-3).

Under various Acts codified in the 1933 Code, the Comptroller-General is an ex-officio member of the following Boards and Committees, namely: Department of Public Safety (Sec. 92A-101); Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation (Sec. 47-1103); Board of Trustees of Employees' Retirement System (Sec. 40-2506); Georgia Reciprocal Commission on Motor Vehicles (Sec. 68-1001); Board of Trustees of Teachers' Retirement System (Sec. 32-2907); Refunding Bond Commission, (Sec. 87-501a); State Depository Board (Sec. 100-101); State Housing Authority Board (Sec. 99-1107); Board of Commissioners of Peace Officers' Annuity and Benefit Fund (Sec. 78-902). Another Act of Mar. 4, 1955 (Acts 1955, p. 431) made the Comptroller General the Georgia Industrial Loan Commissioner (1933 Code, Chapter 25-3).

Family details: Married July 6, 1921 in Hawkinsville, Pulaski Co., Ga., Jane Ophelia Pinkerton (born July 21, 1898 in Eatonton, Ga.) daughter of Peter Henry and Mattie (Haley) Pinkerton. Children: Marjorie (born July 26, 1922); Robert Pinkerton (born Sept. 22, 1924); Zachariah Daniel, Jr. (born Dec. 23, 1926). THE ATTORNEY GENERAL and

DEPARTMENT OF LAW

The Attorney General was not designated as a public officer in the Constitution of 1777, but he was so named in the Constitution of 1789 (Art. III, Sec. 5). The Constitutions of 1798, 1861 and 1865 retained the office but referred to it as State's Attorney. The Constitution of 1868, 1877 and 1945 restored the title to Attorney General. The Act of February 7, 1797 (Watkins, p. 619; Marbury-Crawford, p. 271) provided that it should be the duty of the Attorney General to prosecute all criminal actions in the Superior Courts and also "all civil actions in which this State shall be concerned, and to give advice or opinion in writing to his excellency the Governor, in questions of law in which the State may be interested."

The term of office of the Attorney General is four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. His duties are clearly and concisely set forth in the foreword to the published "Opinions of the Attorney General of 1952-53." That excellent summary of the many and varied legal duties is so succinct that further enumeration is neither possible nor desirable here.

The Department of Law as presently organized was created by an Act of the General Assembly of February 18, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 284). That Act provides that the Attorney General shall be the head of the Department of Law, which is vested with complete and exclusive authority and jurisdiction in all matters of law relating to all the executive departments of the State. The Act provides that there shall be as many Assistant Attorneys General as deemed necessary, all except one of whom are appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Attorney General.

The Attorney General is, ex-officio, a member of the following boards, commissions and committees, namely: Commissioners of the Ordinaries Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-1701a); Board of Trustees of Superior Court Judges Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-2608a); Board of Commissioners of Superior Court Clerks Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-2732); Board of Trustees of Superior Court Solicitors General Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-2907a); Georgia Farmers Market Authority (Sec. 65-304); Seed Advisory Commission (Sec. 5-2410); Georgia Nuclear Advisory Commission (Sec. 43-1001); Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation (Sec. 47-1103); Board of Commissioners of Peace Officers Annuity and Benefit Fund (Sec. 78-902); Refunding Bond Commission (Sec. 87-501); Mineral Leasing Commission (Sec. 91-118); State Office Building Authority (Sec. 91-502a); Department of Public Safety (Sec. 92A-101); State Hospital Authority (Sec. 99-1403); Properties Acquisition Commission; Tax Settlement Board; and Board of Election Commissioners.

TREASURER, OFFICE OF STATE
THE TREASURER

The Treasurer was not designated as a public officer in the first two State Constitutions, but the office was created by the Constitution of 1798 (Art. II, Sec. 12). However, as the Act of December 23, 1789 entitled "An Act to Ascertain the Salaries and Fees of Public Officers" (Watkins, p. 389 and p. 476; Marbury-Crawford, p. 230) specifically mentioned the Treasurer, he was certainly recognized before that date. He has been functioning continuously since before 1789, and the office is specifically provided for in the 1945 Constitution (Art. V, Sec. 2, Par. 1) and in the 1933 Code (Chaps. 40-9 through 40-13).

The term of office of the Treasurer is four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. The minimum qualifications for the office are citizenship for ten years, residence in Georgia for six years and age of twenty-five years. The treasurer has authority to appoint an Assistant Treasurer and other personnel in his office (Acts of 1919 and 1946: 1933 Code. Sec. 40-904).

Among the general duties of his office are the keeping of books on all taxes, fees and other funds which the Department of Revenue and all other Federal and State departments and offices pay to and deposit with him. and the payment from such monies of all proper warrants drawn on him. He pays all bonds issued by the State, and keeps accurate account of the amounts paid under each appropriation of the General Assembly.

The Act of August 14, 1909 (Acts 1909, p. 145) and August 11, 1927 (Acts 1927, p. 131) named him Bond Commissioner to receive and safeguard all bonds, securities and funds required by law of any person or corporation. Under various Acts codified in the 1933 Code, the Treasurer is an ex-officio member of the following Boards and Committees, namely: Board of Managers of Georgia Factory for the Blind (Sec. 99-805); State Housing Authority Board (Sec. 99-1107); Veterans Resettlement Corporations (Sec. 78-505); Solicitors-General Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-2907a); Superior Court Judges Retirement Fund (Sec. 24-2608a); State Depository Board (Sec. 100-101) and State Properties Commission (Sec. 91-109).

EDUCATION, DEPARTMENT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

and

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The Board of Education was recognized by the Constitution of 1945 (Art. VIII, Sec. 2), but it had been created by the Act of February 10, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 864) and the Act of January 25, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 636). This Board exercises exclusive jurisdiction over all public schools, both graded and high and including those for blind and deaf children, and, in its discretion, defines and regulates the curriculum and courses of study therein. It classifies and certifies for employment all teachers in the public school system and administers all funds appropriated for the maintenance and operation of the public schools, including transportation (1933 Code, Chaps. 32-4 and 32-6). The Board also prescribes the standard requirements in education and courses for all academic and professional universities and colleges in the State. All phases of vocational education and training are within its jurisdiction. For all of such purposes, it has authority to make and enforce its rules and regulations, and to employ supervisors and other necessary personnel.

The Board of Education consists of ten members who have resided in the State for five years, one from each congressional district. All of whom are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. Vacancies on the Board are filled temporarily by the Board until the next session of the General Assembly. The terms of office are for seven years each, staggered so that two vacancies occur in one year, four in the second following year and four in the fourth following year. The appointment of certain specified classes of persons is prohibited by law (1933 Code, Sec. 32-404).

The Superintendent of Schools is the executive and administrative officer of the Board of Education (1933 Code, Sec. 32-631), charged with the duties of enforcing all the Board's rules and regulations governing the public schools, and of making recommendations to the Board for the improvement of the efficiency of the school system. He renders annually to the General Assembly a full and comprehensive report covering every phase of the activities of the Board of Education and of his own administrative office. Although there is officially no department of education, that term is still used somewhat loosely to designate the office where he conducts his business.

The Superintendent of Schools was made an executive officer of the State by Art. V, Sec. 2, Par. 1 and Art. VIII, Sec. 3 of the 1945 Constitution. His term of office is for four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. Under the 1945 Constitution and the 1933 Code, the minimum requirements for the office are citizenship for ten years, residence in Georgia for six years, age of twenty-five years, and certain specified professional education and experience (1933 Code, Sec. 32-502).

He is executive officer of the Board of Vocational Education, which is a subordinate Board under the Board of Education. He is also a member of the State School Building Authority (1933 Code, Sec. 32-1402a) and the Vocational Trade School Building Authority (1933 Code, Sec. 32-2202a). He also has the responsibility for general supervision of the Vocational Rehabilitation program in Georgia.
The State Department of Education is divided into services organized as follows:

Division of Internal Operations, C. S. Hubbard, Director, Assistant State Superintendent of Schools, State Office Building.

Division of Administration and Finance, Allen C. Smith, Director, State Office Building.

Division of Vocational Education, Jack P. Nix, Director, State Office Building.

Division of Instructional Materials and Library Services, Hal W. Clements, Director, State Office Building.

Division of Instruction, H. S. Shearouse, Director, State Office Building.

THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

The Department of Labor, which was created by the Act of March 25, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 230), is the successor to the former Department of Industrial Relations and its predecessor, the Department of Commerce and Labor.

The Act of March 25, 1937 also created the office of Commissioner of Labor and placed the Department of Labor under his supervision and jurisdiction. His duties include the enforcement of all laws pertaining to labor (other than workmen's compensation, as enumerated in Sec. 54-122 of the 1933 Code. One important duty is the enforcement of the provisions of the Unemployment Compensation Act of March 29, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 806). To accomplish this, that Act authorized the Commissioner of Labor to set up, in the Department of Labor, a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, divided into an Employment Service Division and an Unemployment Compensation Division. The Act of March 8, 1945 (Acts 1945, p. 331) changed the name of that Bureau to Employment Security Agency, but left the subordinate Divisions unchanged. Currently, this Agency has 640 employees, as against 16 employees in all other branches of the Department of Labor.

Yet, on the other hand, the same Act of March 25, 1937 placed within and under the Department of Labor an Industrial Board which succeeded to all of the powers and duties of the former Department of Industrial Relations, and which was specially charged with the duty of administering the Workmen's Compensation Act of August 17, 1920. The Act of February 8, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 167) abolished that Board but created the Board of Workmen's Compensation to enforce the Workmen's Compensation Act, as amended. Both Acts of 1937 and 1943 provided that the said named Boards, although within the Department of Labor, be outside of the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Labor, and the Act of January 26, 1950 (Acts 1950, p. 9) made the Commissioner's connection with the Board advisory only.

THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR

The term of office of the Commissioner of Labor is for four years. He is elected by the voters at the same general election at which the Governor and other executive officers are elected. The minimum qualifications for the office are citizenship for ten years, residence in Georgia for six years and age of twenty-five years. (Art. V, Sec. 2, Par. 4 of 1945 Constitution).

Under Secs. 54-119 and 54-628 of the 1933 Code, the Commissioner of Labor has authority to appoint a secretary, a director of the Employment Security Agency, the heads of all divisions and bureaus and all other necessary personnel in the Department, except those under the Board of Workmen's Compensation. He is the custodian and administrator of the "unemployment compensation fund", which is a special fund, separate and apart from all public monies or funds of the State.

THE BOARD OF WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

The Board of Workmen's Compensation consists of a Chairman and two other Directors, all appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The terms of office are for four years each. THE MEDICAL BOARD

The Act of January 31, 1946 (Acts 1946, p. 103) created a Medical Board to which the Board of Workmen's Compensation must refer all controverted medical issues in claims involving occupational diseases and disabilities. (Secs. 114-822 and 114-823 of the 1933 Code). The findings of this Medical Board after hearings duly had are conclusive upon the Board of Workmen's Compensation, but are subject to review and appeal in the same manner as are other questions of fact. The Medical Board is not subordinate to the Board of Workmen's Compensation but is independent thereof, even though the latter Board pays the fees and expenses of its members and even though it functions only for the guidance and assistance of the latter Board in a specified class of claims.

The Medical Board consists of five qualified physicians appointed by the Governor upon nomination by the Medical Association of Georgia, or if the Association fails to nominate, then upon the nomination of the Board of Workmen's Compensation. The terms of office are for two years each, staggered so that two vacancies occur in one year and three in the following year.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION, GEORGIA
PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

After operating for sixty-six years under various Acts of the General Assembly, the Public Service Commission was re-created as a constitutional commission and its members were made constitutional officers by the Constitution of 1945 (Art. IV, Sec. 4, Par. 3). Among other powers, the Commission has full and complete powers of supervision and control, insofar as the public is in any way affected, over all common carriers of freight and passengers, all public utilities, telephone companies, telegraph companies, express companies, city transportation systems, and lessees from municipal corporations. It fixes all rates and charges to be made by all of such corporations, evaluates the property of the same, determines what physical improvements can be made or curtailments allowed, and approves all issues of bonds and stocks (Chap. 99-3 of 1933 Code). All sales or purchases of stock of one city transportation company by or to another, or sale and purchase of its physical properties must be first approved by the Commission (Secs. 94-1015 and 94-1020 of 1933 Code).

The Public Service Commission consists of five members who are elected at the same general election at which other executive officers are elected. The terms of office are for six years each, staggered so that one vacancy occurs in one year, two in the second following year and two in the fourth following year. The minimum requirements for the office are that the member be at least thirty years of age, and without any interest of any kind in any company or business supervised by the Commission. The Commissioners elect one of their number as Chairman, to serve as such for two years. Vacancies on the Commission are filled by the Governor by appointments extending until the next general election. The Commission has authority to appoint the personnel necessary to conduct its manifold examinations and investigations, and to enforce its rules and regulations. The Chairman of the Commission is, ex-officio, a member of the State Properties Commission, of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Commission, the Jekyll Island State Park Authority and the Stone Mountain Memorial Association.

Ses., p. 7), and that Act and amending Acts are codified as Chap. 40-18 of the 1933 Code. The Auditor is elected by the vote of the House of Representatives and confirmed by the vote of the State Senate, and the issuance of his commission is a required ministerial duty of the Governor. BANKING, DEPARTMENT OF

SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS

The Department of Banking, with the Superintendent of Banks as its chief officer, was created by the Act of August 16, 1919 (Acts 1919, p. 135). The Department and the Superintendent have full and exclusive jurisdiction and supervision over all banks charted by the State, all credit unions and all small-loan companies. They examine those institutions at least once every year and require reports and statements of condition to be submitted more frequently. They have authority to take possession of, close and liquidate any such institution whose assets have become impaired or whose charter has been violated. Every application for the opening of a new State-charted bank or credit union is scrutinized by the Superintendent before he will issue to it a license to do business. No conversion of a National bank, State bank, trust company or private bank into any other classification, or merger of any two of those classes, can be made without his approval.

The Superintendent of Banks is appointed by the Governor by and with the advice of the Senate, for a four-year term of office. The minimum qualifications for the office are five years experience in banking and a good character. Sess., p. 77; Chap. 92-84 of 1933 Code), but throughout the Act all provisions refer to the Commissioner rather than to the Department. The Department is the tax-collecting agency for the State, and among the principal taxes collected are those on sales, motor fuel and kerosene, income, alcoholic beverages, cigars and cigarettes, property, motor vehicle licenses and estates. It is the Commissioner's duty to administer all tax laws, and he is empowered to make all rules and regulations necessary to the enforcement of those laws, including inspections and investigations when he deems them to be in the interest of the State. He also has authority to employ all personnel necessary for the functioning of the Department. He also is empowered and it is made his duty to enforce all laws and regulations pertaining to the control of liquor within the State. In addition to other duties assigned to the Commissioner, it is specifically provided that he shall direct that appropriate legal action be taken to enforce the revenue laws of Georgia; shall request the Attorney General to command the services of county attorney or solicitor general or to supply legal assistance from the Department of Law; shall supervise all tax administration throughout the State subject, however, to the sovereign rights of the counties to regulate their own affairs; shall make thorough study of taxation in Georgia and elsewhere with a view to improvement of administration and legislation affecting the people of Georgia; shall make an annual report to the Governor and a biennial report to each regular session of the General Assembly; shall publish such regulations, statistics, and other reports as he may deem wise within the limitations of his appropriation; shall assist local tax officials in every feasible manner when so requested by such officials; and shall, as responsible revenue official of the State, advise the Governor on all matters relating to revenue.

The Revenue Commissioner is appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, for a term of four years, and in the case of a vacancy the Governor appoints a successor subject to the approval of the Senate. The minimum requirements for the office are that he be a resident of the State for ten years and that during one year prior to appointment he was not the incumbent of any elective office. It is further provided that no person holding the office of Commissioner of Revenue shall be eligible to run for any elective office during the term of office or during a period of twelve months after the expiration of his term of office. The Act of February 21, 1951 provided that the Commissioner might appoint a Deputy Revenue Commissioner to whom he can delegate, or from whom he can withdraw, such duties and powers as he sees fit.

The Revenue Commissioner is ex-officio a member of the Finance Committee of the Senate and of the Ways and Means Committee of the House.

DEFENSE, DEPARTMENT OF
The Department of Defense was created by the Act of February 2, 1955, (Acts 1955, p. 10). It consists of a Military Division and a Civil Defense Division. The Adjutant General is the executive head of the Military Division and is the Director of Civil Defense. The tenure of office of the Adjutant General is at the pleasure of the Governor.

Since the Constitution of 1777 (Art. XXXIII) the Governor has been Commander-in-Chief over all the militia and other military and naval forces of the State; the first enactment creating and regulating the militia was the Act of November 15, 1778. The only change throughout the years has been the evolution of the organized militia to the present National Guard. The title of Adjutant General of the militia was created by the Act of December 14, 1792, and it has continued throughout all changes in the military and militia laws to the present. The latest law relating to the military establishments is the Act of February 2, 1955 (Acts 1955, p. 10), which places under the Military Division of the Department of Defense the National Guard, the State Guard, the Naval Militia and the unorganized militia, of which only the National Guard is presently active. The executive head of the Department and of the Military Division, subordinate only to the Commander-in-Chief, is the Adjutant General, who holds during his term of office the grade of Major General in the National Guard (Sec. 86-204 of the 1933 Ga. Code Ann.).

The Civil Defense Division was created by the Act of February 19, 1951 (Acts 1951, p. 224; Chap. 86-18 of the 1933 Ga. Code Ann.). The mission of the Division is to prevent and minimize injury, death and damages resulting from disaster caused by enemy attack, sabotage or other hostile enemy action or natural disasters or other emergencies, and to provide assistance in education and training to other State Agencies and political subdivisions in preparation of all phases of Civil Defense plans and operation.

The Adjutant General is Chief of Staff to the Governor and is subordinate only to the Governor in matters to the Department of Defense and the Military and Naval affairs of the State. Upon appointment the Adjutant General must be between the age of thirty and sixty years, must have attained the rank of at least field grade or equivalent in the National Guard of the State or in the Armed Forces of the United States or a Reserve component thereof, and must have served not less than five years in one or more Services.

To assist the Adjutant General in the administration of the Army and Air National Guard, there are two assistant Adjutants General, one for Army and one for Air. Appointees to these positions must at the time of appointment hold the federally recognized rank of Colonel or above in the Army or Air National Guard of the State, respectively. The grade of these officers will be that of Brigadier General. In the event of vacancy of the Office of Adjutant General, the Assistant Adjutant General, senior in rank, shall perform the duties of that office, except that he shall perform no duties in connection with the Civil Defense Division. The Assistant Adjutants General shall hold no other State office and they shall be covered under the Merit System of the State. (Secs. 86-104, 86-204, and 86-206, 1933 Ga. Code Ann.).

The Department of Veterans Service was created by the Act of March 8, 1945 (Acts 1945, p. 319), and it was made a constitutional body by the 1945 Constitution (Art. V., Sec. 6). The Department administers the Veterans Education Reorganization Act of 1949. (Chaps. 78-4 and 78-4A of the 1933 Code). The functions, duties, powers and authority imposed by law upon the State Division of Confederate Pensions and Records transferred to the Department of Veterans Service, Ga. L., 1960, p. 882.

The Board of Veterans Service consists of seven non-salaried members, all of whom must be veterans, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The terms of office are for seven years each, staggered so that one vacancy occurs in each year. The Board elects its chairman and secretary from its membership. It is the duty of the Board to promulgate all rules and regulations necessary to accomplish its objectives. It appoints the Director of the Department for a four-year term.

The Director is the executive officer of the Department and is charged with the duty of administering and enforcing all rules and regulations made by the Board. He is empowered to employ all necessary personnel, and to maintain branch offices throughout the State for the convenience of veterans.

LIBRARY, STATE
LIBRARY AND LIBRARIAN

The Department of the State Library was created by the Act of March 27, 1947 (Acts 1947, p. 1166), and it was provided therein that the head of the Department should be the State Librarian. This public officer had been continuously, for one hundred years, the de facto head of the Library, the Act of December 17, 1847 (Acts 1847, p. 214) having authorized the Governor “to find a person to act as State Librarian at $100.00 per year”. No duties of the office were outlined until the passage of the Act of January 21, 1852, Sect. 25 (Acts 1851-2, p. 11).

The chief duty of the Librarian is to maintain and service the Library's book collection of approximately eighty-eight thousand volumes in the field of law and Georgia history. This highly specialized library is maintained for the benefit of all of the citizens of the State, with special emphasis on service to government officials and members of the bench and bar. The Library is also a required depository for publications of the several State departments and institutions, Federal depository of selected items. Another duty of the Librarian involves the distribution of the printed Georgia Laws, House and Senate Journals, Reports of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals required by law to be distributed to the various State and County officers, or to be sent to other States in exchange for their official publications (Chap. 101-1 of the 1933 Code of Georgia).

The Librarian is appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a four-year term of office. The minimum requirements for the office are a State license as a certified librarian and at least three years experience as an executive in a law or other reference library. The Librarian has authority to appoint all assistants and other necessary personnel.

The 1947 Act also created an Advisory Library Committee composed of, ex-officio, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Secretary of State and the Chancellor of the University System, which Committee advises with the Librarian and also recommends to both the Governor and the Librarian policies beneficial to the State, its officials and its citizens.

PUBLIC WELFARE, DEPARTMENT OF
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

The Department of Public Welfare was created by the Act of February 26, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 355), as amended by the Act of March 18, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 202). The Department consists of a Director who is its executive and administrative officer, and a State Welfare Advisory Board which advises with the Director on all policies, rules and regulations. The powers and duties of the Department are set out in detail in Title 99 of the 1933 Code. For old-age assistance, aid to the blind, aid to dependent children, and aid to the totally and permanently disabled, the Department receives, administers and disburses approximately eighty six million dollars a year; and it receives, administers and disburses approximately five million dollars a year for the operation and maintenance of the following state institutions, namely: Confederate Soldiers Home, Training School for White Girls, Training School for Colored Girls, Training School for White Boys, Training School for Colored Boys, and Factory for the Blind.

THE DIRECTOR

The Director of the Department of Public Welfare is appointed by the Governor for a term of four years running concurrently with that of the Governor. He is appointed on the basis of training, ability and experience in public welfare administration. In addition to the administrative duties set out above, he prepares the annual budget for the Department, submits an annual report to the Governor, appoints all personnel employed by or under the Department and supervises all county welfare departments. He is a member of the Board of Eugenics and a member of the Hospital Advisory Committee (Secs. 99-404, 99-1301 and 99-1704 of the 1933 Code). The amount of his bond and the terms thereof are determined by the Comptroller General.

SUPERVISOR OF PURCHASES, OFFICE OF
The office of Supervisor of Purchases was created by the Acts of March 29, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 503). The duties and powers of the office, as originally set out in said Act were materially amplified by the amending Act of March 24, 1939 (Acts 1939, p. 160: Chap. 40-19 of the 1933 Code). Supplies, materials, equipment and space required by any department, bureau or office of the State government can be obtained only upon requisition made to the Supervisor of Purchases, who then purchases or contracts for the purchase of such items on competitive bids filed in his office. Where possible, preference is given to the bids of Georgia manufacturers, producers and dealers. The elaborate but remarkably efficient system for making purchases for the State is designed to obtain the best products at the most economical price, and to eliminate waste and duplication in purchases.

The Supervisor of Purchases is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, for a four-year term of office. He has authority to employ all necessary office personnel. While the Act does not specify any particular requirements for the office, it does bar the Supervisor and all of his office staff from any financial or pecuniary interest in any person or firm with whom any business is transacted.

As incidental to that duty, the Division maintains a file of the war records of those Georgians who drew pensions in their lifetimes or whose widows now draw pensions, and it is required by law to keep a public file of all Georgians who served in the Confederate Army or Navy.

The entire staff of this Division consists of a Director, who is appointed by the Governor and holds office during his pleasure, and a secretary and a bookkeeper, who are appointed by the Director upon the approval of the Governor.

The Constitution of 1945 established the Board of Corrections as a constitutional body (Art. V, Sec. 5), and the enabling Act was passed on February 23, 1956 (Acts 1956, p. 161). The primary duty of the Board, in its transaction of the business of the penal system, is to maintain a program of wise, humane and intelligent prison administration which has for its underlying purposes the rehabilitation and reclamation of the prison inmates, and the operation of self-supporting correctional institutions. As incident thereto, it promulgates rules and regulations governing the assignment, housing and feeding, treatment, hospitalization, discipline, training and rehabilitation of all prisoners under its custody (Chap. 77-3 of the 1933 Code).

PARDONS AND PAROLES, BOARD OF
BOARD OF PARDONS AND PAROLES

The Board of Pardons and Paroles was made a constitutional body by the 1945 Constitution (Art. V. Sec. 1. Par. 11) after it had previously been created by the Act of February 5, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 185). The Board has exclusive power to grant reprieves, pardons and paroles, to commute penalties, to remove disabilities imposed by law, and to remit any part of a sentence after conviction, except in those cases in which the Governor has refused to suspend a death sentence (Chap. 77-5 of the 1933 Code). In all cases of pardon, parole or clemency a majority vote is controlling, but if capital punishment is in any way involved a unanimous vote is compulsory. The Board retains control and supervision over all parolees until the expiration of the maximum sentence originally imposed. Since the duties, powers and functions of the Board are executive in their nature, neither the legislative nor the judiciary branches of the State government can usurp them or substitute others in their places (Act of December 17, 1953).

The Board of Pardons and Paroles consists of three members, all of whom including the Chairman, are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The terms of office are for seven years each, staggered so that vacancies occur at intervals of two, two and three years. The Board appoints its secretary and has authority to employ all necessary personnel.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH AND BOARD OF HEALTH
The Department of Public Health, under the control and management of the Board of Health, was created by the Act of March 18, 1933 (Acts 1933, p. 7). In the concise words of the Act, "the Board of Health shall have supervision of the life and health of the people; shall have supreme authority in matters of quarantine; and shall make and enforce reasonable orders or regulations for the prevention of the spread of contagious or infectious diseases." The services rendered to the State and its people by the Department of Public Health are so many and so varied that reference to the accompanying organization chart is necessary to a clear understanding of its work (Chaps. 88-1 thru 88-5 of the 1933 Code). As illustrative of the wide scope of its activities there should be mentioned the development and supervision of local health services in each of Georgia's 159 counties, the operation of Battey State Tuberculosis Hospital at Rome, Milledgeville State Hospital, Georgia Training School for Mental Defectives at Gracewood, and the Georgiann and Chatham Clinics for Alcoholic Rehabilitation, the program of construction of hospitals and health centers under the Hill-Burton plan, the recording of births and deaths by the Vital Records Services, the work in sanitation and in water pollution control, the programs in maternal and child health, the control of communicable and other diseases and the provision of statewide general public health laboratory services in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

The Board of Health is composed of fifteen non-salaried members of whom one must be from each of the ten congressional districts and the remainder from the State at large. All are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, after nominations from each of the congressional districts by the Medical Association of Georgia and from the state at large by the State Dental and Pharmaceutical Association. The terms of office are for six years each, staggered so that two vacancies occur in each of four successive years and three occur in each of the next two successive years. The Board elects its own chairman.

The Director of the Department of Public Health is appointed by the Board of Health and, as administrative and executive officer of the Department he is charged with the duty of enforcing all orders, rules and regulations of the Board, and is actively in control of the Department's operations.

OF GEORGIA
The Highway Department was originally created by the Act of August 16, 1916 (Acts 1916, p. 125), and reorganized by the Act of August 18, 1919 (Acts 1919, p. 242). These Acts provide that the Department shall consist of the Highway Board and such employees, including the Highway Engineer and other assistants, as the Board deems necessary (95-1503 of 1933 Code). The Highway Department has exclusive jurisdiction and control over the construction and maintenance of the entire system of highways, roads and bridges in the State, except those operated by Counties without State or Federal funds; has also jurisdiction and control over all State and Federal funds appropriated for highway purposes.

Highway Board

Between 1919 and 1950 several Acts were passed, all of which were later repealed, under which, from time to time, the official titles of the personnel of the Highway Department were changed. The latest and final enactment is the Act of February 2, 1950 (Acts 1950, p. 62). The Highway Board is charged with the general duties, management and control of the Highway Department. The Board consists of three members, one of whom must be elected from the Southern Highway District, (1st, 2nd and 8th Congressional Districts); one from the Central Highway District (3rd, 4th, 6th and 10th Congressional Districts); and one from the Northern Highway District (5th, 7th and 9th Congressional Districts). All are elected by the General Assembly, for terms of six years each, staggered so that one vacancy occurs every two years. The Board elects its own Chairman, to serve as such for two years. Vacancies on the Board are filled by the Governor until the next following session of the General Assembly (Chap. 95-16 of 1933 Code). The Board, as well as the Department, is empowered to employ all necessary personnel, and does employ approximately three thousand persons of all grades and ranks. The Highway Board also employs the Treasurer of the Highway Department (Sec. 95-1606 of 1933 Code).

The Chairman of the Highway Board also serves as a member of the Department of Public Safety (Sec. 92A-101); a member of the Bridge Building Authority (Act of March 25, 1953); and a member of the Committee on Claims against the Department (Sec. 95-1623).

CONSERVATION, STATE DIVISION OF
Department of Mines, Mining and Geology

DEPARTMENT OF STATE PARKS, HISTORIC SITES AND MONUMENTS
Although the Act of February 19, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 180) created the Division of Conservation with its subordinate Department of Mines, Mining and Geology and Department of State Parks, Historic Sites and Monuments, actually the Act only renamed the former Natural Resources Department and its Division of Mines, Mining and Geology and Division of State Parks, Historic Sites and Monuments, as established by the Act of March 5, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 264). The names were changed but the purposes, powers and duties remained the same. As the Division is now constituted, the Governor is ex-officio the Commissioner of Conservation and, as such, has the power to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, the Directors of the two Departments. The Commissioner controls the work of the Division of Conservation and makes such rules and regulations as he deems advisable. He submits annually to the General Assembly a consolidation of the various reports, findings and recommendations made to him by the two Directors (Chaps. 43-1 of the 1933 Code).

DEPARTMENT OF MINES, MINING AND GEOLOGY

The Department of Mines, Mining and Geology has the duty of studying, analyzing and reporting on the geological, mineral and water resources of the State, having in mind the mining and milling of mineral deposits, the utilization of water power, and conservation and reclamation of the same. Cooperation with an active assistance to other departments of the State and Federal governments is a requirement. A tremendous amount of field and cartographic work is entailed, and for this work the Director is authorized to appoint technical assistants as well as other necessary personnel. The Director must be a graduate in geology from a recognized university and must have had at least four years practical experience in geological and mining work. His term of office is for four years.

FORESTRY COMMISSION

DIRECTOR OF FORESTRY COMMISSION

The Forestry Commission was created by the Act of February 25, 1949 (Acts 1949, p. 1079), which specified that the Commission, by and with the advice of the Governor, should appoint a Director as its executive secretary and administrative officer. The powers and duties of the Forestry Commission are largely the same as those set up for the former Division of Forestry by the Act of March 5, 1937 (Acts 1937, p. 264). The Commission is required to promote and aid forest farming and nursery work, planting, management and protection of forests, and marketing of farm products. It is charged with the duty of administering and enforcing the “Forest Fire Protection” Act of February 23, 1949 (Chap. 43-2 of the 1933 Code). In the furtherance of its work it is authorized to receive and expend all Federal and State appropriations and allotments made for those purposes.

The Commission is composed of five non-salaried members, three being owners of forest land and two being connected with the lumber industry, all appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The terms of office are for seven years each, staggered so that one vacancy occurs in each of five successive years and none for an intervening two-year period.

The creating Act provided that the Director have all of the powers of the Commission when the latter is not in session, and that he administer its policies as well as to make his rules and regulations to enforce the same. He has authority to appoint assistants, foresters and other necessary personnel, subject to the approval of the Commission. He is ex-officio a member of the Forest Research Council and of the Forest Fire Emergency Committee.

MERIT SYSTEM OF PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION,
THE STATE

STATE PERSONNEL BOARD
THE STATE MERIT SYSTEM OF PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

The Act of February 4, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 171) established the State Merit System of Personnel Administration under a three member Merit System Council appointed by the Governor, for five year terms. The Merit System Council was responsible for the administration of the Merit System law covering employees in the State and County Departments of Welfare, the State and local Departments of Health, and the State Employment Security Agency of the State Department of Labor. The Merit System Council adopted a classification and pay plan, and established rules and regulations covering all phases of personnel administration, including the appointment of a Director and other necessary personnel.

The 1945 Constitution (Art. XIV, Sec. 1, Par. 1) established a State Personnel Board to administer the Merit System of Personnel Administration under which State personnel shall be selected on a basis of merit, fitness and efficiency according to law. The Personnel Board is composed of three members appointed by the Governor with the advice of the Senate, for seven-year terms.

Although it might appear that the Council and the Board are both functioning, the Attorney General furnished the Governor with an Opinion on October 24, 1945 to the effect that (1) the Merit System Council had been supplanted by the State Personnel Board: (2) the latter had the powers and duties originally vested in the former; (3) the latter was authorized and empowered to administer the Merit System; and (4) the official transfer of powers and duties could be accomplished by executive order. Upon such an executive order being issued, the State Personnel Board, in November 1945, adopted all rules and regulations and ratified all appointments and other official Acts of the former Merit System Council.

An Act of February 15, 1952 (Acts 1952, p. 221) amended the 1943 Act to authorize the inclusion upon their petition, of the employees of any or every other department or agency of the State. The System has grown from a coverage in 1943 of three departments and 1609 employees to a coverage of forty-five departments, agencies, and institutions and approximately 14,000 employees.

The Board, through established rules and regulations governs all phases of personnel administration including such things as recruitment, appointments, promotions, transfers, demotions, separations, job classification, salary and wage administration, leave of absence, training, prohibition of political activity, employee appeals, and many others.

GEORGIA PORTS AUTHORITY
GEORGIA PORTS AUTHORITY

The Georgia Ports Authority was created as a public corporation, with perpetual existence, by the Act of March 9, 1945 (Acts 1945, p. 464) as amended by the Act of February 1, 1955 (Acts 1955, p. 120; Chap. 98-2 of the 1933 Code). It is an instrumentality of the State, but without power to bind the State for any debt or obligation which it may incur. The primary purposes for which the Georgia Ports Authority was created are the development and expansion of shipping and commerce through the harbors and seaports of the State. Thus, it has power to acquire, build and operate wharves, docks, warehouses, ships, elevators and all other types of plants needed to round out its program; and it may sell or rent any of such projects when it is advantageous to do so. To finance any or all of its projects, it can issue its own bonds and debentures and, in general, function just as does any private corporation.

The authority consists of five non-salaried members, all appointed by the Governor for four-year terms, which are staggered. The members perform the functions of officers of a private corporation, and any two can constitute a quorum for doing business. They elect their own Chairman, and they employ and regulate the salaries and pay of all employees.

As collateral to the Georgia Ports Authority, the Governor created the State Ports Committee, by his Executive Order of August 8, 1951, to act as “agents of the Governor to act collectively to make capital improvements and purchases of necessary equipment of the Georgia Ports Authority deemed advisable by them.” This Ports Committee consists of three members, all appointed by the Governor.

The Department of Commerce was created by the Act of February 7, 1949 (Acts 1949, p. 249). The primary purposes and objectives of the Department are, first, the development, establishment, expansion and promotion of the State's commerce and industry, and second, the attracting and welcoming of visitors and tourists. Eighteen different ways and manners in which the Department is authorized to operate toward those ends are set out in the Act (Chap. 40-21 of the 1933 Code).

The Department consists of a Board of Commissioners, which is charged with the duty of compliance with all of the provisions of the Act. The Board consists of five non-salaried members, all of whom, including the chairman, are appointed by the Governor for four-year terms. The membership includes representative of citizens in the fields of manufacturing and processing, wholesale and retail distribution, advertising and promotion, labor and agriculture. The Board has authority to employ all necessary personnel.

The Governor also appoints, for a four-year term, a Secretary to the Board, who is its executive and administrative officer, and who has charge of the employees of the Department and assigns their duties.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The legislative power of the State is vested in the General Assembly, which consists of the Senate and the House of Representatives. The General Assembly convenes in regular session on the second Monday in January annually, and it remains in session not more than forty days (Ga. L., 1955, p. 729), which need not be consecutive, so that it can adjourn to a fixed date and reconvene once. It may also be called into extra session by the Governor at any time, upon the certificates of three-fifths of all the members thereof. With two exceptions, all bills may originate in either the Senate or the House of Representatives, but all bills must be passed by both branches and signed by the Governor before becoming law. The exceptions are bills for raising revenue and bills for appropriating money, which can originate only in the House. In the event of the Governor's veto of any bill during a session, it can be repassed by a two-thirds vote of both branches and becomes law.

THE SENATE

The Senate consists of fifty-four Senators elected from as many Senatorial Districts. Its presiding officer is the Lieutenant Governor who is designated as President of the Senate. The terms of office of the Senators are for two years, and they are elected by the voters biennially in November of the even-numbered years. The minimum requirements for the office of Senator are age of twenty-five years, citizenship in the State for four years and residence in the Senatorial District for one year.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The House of Representatives consists of two hundred five members from the one hundred fifty-nine counties, there being three from each of the eight largest populated counties, two from each of the next largest populated counties and one from each of the remaining one hundred twenty-one counties. The presiding officer is the Speaker, who is elected viva voce from the body. The minimum qualifications for the office of Member of the House of Representatives are age of twenty-one years, citizenship in the State for two years and residence in the county for one year.
Purpose: To study methods and procedures relative to the more efficient operations of the General Assembly. To designate the first Legislative Counsel and to provide for an advisor to the Legislative Counsel.

CHAPTER III

JUDICIARY
The Supreme Court was created by an amendment to the 1798 Constitution, which became effective under the Act of December 22, 1835, but no enabling legislation was passed until the Act of December 10, 1845 (Acts 1845, p. 18). It was organized in 1846, some seventy years after Georgia had become a State, and then consisted of three Justices who rode the circuits. The present organization of the Supreme Court is defined in the Constitution of 1945 (Art. VI, Sec. 2, Pars. 1 thru 7) and in the 1933 Code (Chaps. 24-38 thru 24-46).

The Supreme Court exercises appellate jurisdiction only, in cases arising in the Superior Courts or City Courts which involve any of the following eight classifications of litigation, namely: cases that depend upon a construction of the constitutions of Georgia or the United States, or of treaties; cases in which the constitutionality of any law of Georgia or the United States is in question; cases respecting title to land; all equity cases; all cases which involve the validity or construction of wills; all cases of conviction of a capital felony; all habeas corpus cases; all cases involving extraordinary remedies; all divorce and alimony cases. It also has jurisdiction over cases certified to it by the Court of Appeals or carried from that Court by writ of certiorari.

There are seven Justices on the bench of the Supreme Court, and, from time to time, they elect their Chief Justice and Presiding Justice. The qualifications for the office are three years residence, age of thirty years or over, and seven years experience in the practice of law. The terms of office are for six years each, staggered so that two vacancies occur in one year, two in the second following year and three in the fourth following year. The Justices are elected at the same general elections at which members of the General Assembly are elected. The Governor fills any vacancy by appointment, until the next general election, when a successor to complete the unexpired term is elected. The Act of February 19, 1953 (Acts 1953, p. 137) provides that a Chief Justice or Associate Justice of this Court shall be appointed a Chief Justice Emeritus or Associate Justice Emeritus, respectively, upon notice given to the Governor, after reaching the age of sixty-five years or seventy years, with certain conditions of continuous service attached to each age. He then automatically becomes a life member of the Advisory Appellate Council.

The Supreme Court makes and publishes its rules covering every phase of practice in and before the Court (Chap. 24-45 of the 1933 Code). It has authority to appoint its Clerks, Sheriff, reporter, law assistants and other necessary personnel.

COURT OF APPEALS
(For Roster Chief Judges, Associate Judges — Court of Appeals, see page 1076).
COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals was created by an amendment to the Constitution of 1877, ratified on November 6, 1906. The first term of the court was held on the first Monday in January 1907, and the court originally consisted of only three judges. The present organization of the court is defined in the Constitution of 1945 (Art. VI, Sec. 2, Par. 8) and in the Code of 1933 (Chaps. 24-35 through 24-36A).

The Court of Appeals exercises appellate jurisdiction only, for the trial and correction of errors of law in those cases arising in the Superior, City and Civil Courts over which the Supreme Court does not have jurisdiction. The court sits in two Divisions, four Judges on Criminal Division and three on Civil, with the members assigned by the Chief Judge, who presides over the First Division and designates the Presiding Judge of the Second Division.

By the act of March 8, 1945 (Acts 1945, p. 232), it was provided that the Sec. 24-3501 of the 1933 Code, be amended by adding thereto the provision that from and after the first day of the April Term 1945 of the Court of Appeals, the two Divisions of the court, sitting as one court, shall pass on and determine each case in which there is a dissent in the Division to which the case was originally assigned, unless upon consideration of the case by the two Divisions as one court there is an equal division between the judges passing upon the case, in which event the case shall be decided by the Division to which it was originally assigned. It was also provided that, in some circumstances there named, the two Divisions might sit as one court even when there is no dissent in the Division to which the case was originally assigned. However, by Art. VI, Sec. 2, Par. 8 of the Constitution of 1945, it was provided that “In the event of an equal division of Judges on any case when the court is sitting as a body, the case shall be immediately transferred to the Supreme Court.” (Rendered inoperative by addition of 7th Judge, Ga. L. 1960, p. 158).

There are seven Judges on the Court of Appeals, and from time to time they elect their Chief Judge. The qualifications of the office are three years residence, thirty years of age or over, and seven years experience in the practice of law. The terms of office are for six years each, staggered so that two vacancies occur at two year intervals. The judges are elected at the same general elections at which members of the General Assembly are elected. The Governor fills any vacancy by his appointment until the next general election, when a successor to complete the unexpired term is elected. The Act of March 16, 1943 (Acts 1943, p. 677), as amended by the Act of February 25, 1949 (Acts 1949, p. 1006), provides that a judge of this court shall be appointed a Judge Emeritus, upon notice given to the Governor, after reaching the age of sixty-five years or seventy years, with certain conditions of continuous service attached to each age, respectively. He then automatically becomes a life member of the Advisory Appellate Council.

The Court of Appeals makes and publishes its rules covering every phase of practice in and before the court (Chap. 24-36 of the 1933 Code). It has authority to appoint its clerk, deputy clerk, sheriff, reporter and assistant, law assistants and other necessary personnel.

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

For seventy years prior to the organization of the Supreme Court the Superior Courts of the various Counties were the highest courts of record in the State. At present there are one hundred fifty-nine Superior Courts, grouped into thirty-seven Circuits, with a Judge presiding in each Circuit. Inasmuch as the business of six Circuits requires more than one Judge, there are now fifty-three Judges of the Superior Courts, but still only thirty-seven Solicitors General. The Superior Courts, which are courts of both law and equity, have exclusive jurisdiction in cases of divorce, in cases respecting titles to land, in equity cases and in criminal cases where the sentence might be penitentiary confinement or death; and they have concurrent jurisdiction in all other classes of cases with the City Courts, Civil Courts and County Courts. Cases from Courts of Ordinary and Justices' Courts can be carried to the Superior Courts on appeal.

The Judges and Solicitors General of the Superior Courts are elected by all of the voters of the State at the same general elections at which members of the General Assembly are elected. The term of office of each is for four years (except—Atlanta Judicial Circuit terms 8 years, Ga. Laws 1956, p. 636), beginning on the first day of January next following the election. Vacancies are filled by appointment by the Governor until a successor for the unexpired term is elected at the next general election. The minimum qualifications for the office of Judge of the Superior Court are age of thirty years, three years residence in the Circuit and seven years experience in the practice of law; for the office of Solicitor General they are age of twenty-five years and three years experience in the practice. Upon reaching certain specified ages coupled with specified years of service, a Judge or a Solicitor General can, upon notice given to the Governor, retire and be appointed, respectively, a Judge of the Superior Court Emeritus for life, or a Solicitor Emeritus for life.

SUPERIOR COURTS
HISTORICAL DATA
SUPERIOR COURTS

Legislative History: On the establishment of the royal government in Georgia in 1754 courts of judicature were organized. These included a general court, to be held four times a year, for the transaction of civil business and a court of session of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery to be held twice a year for the consideration of criminal matters (Col. Rec. of Ga., v. 7, pp. 28-31, 40, 42-50). The judges of these two courts were the same and at the close of the colonial period consisted of a chief justice and three assistant judges, one of whom was called the senior judge (Col. Rec. of Ga., v. 12, p. 213; v. 39, pp. 37, 42). The chief justice was an appointee of the king and served during his pleasure with a salary of £500. The assistant judges were appointed by the governor and served without salaries, except on the death or in the absence of the chief justice. The general court held all sessions in Savannah (Col. Rec. of Ga., v. 7, pp. 46, 47). The temporary constitution of Georgia adopted by the provincial congress Apr. 15, 1776 provided for a chief justice and two assistant judges, an attorney general, a provost marshal, and a clerk of the court of sessions, appointed by ballot to serve during the pleasure of congress, and for a court of sessions, or oyer and terminer, to be held on the first Tuesdays in June and December with the former rules and methods of proceedings, as nearly as might be, observed (Rev. Rec. of Ga., v. 1, p. 274).

The constitution adopted Feb. 5, 1777 provided that there should be established in each county a court, to be called a superior court, to be held twice in each year; said court to consist of a chief justice and three or more of the justices residing in the county; in absence of chief justice, the senior justice on the bench to act as chief justice, with the clerk of the county, attorney for the state, sheriff, coroner, constable and the jurors (arts. XXXVI, XL). An act of Mar. 1, 1778 set forth, that by the constitution of the state, circuit courts were established by the style and title of a superior court and that as some doubts might arise with the justices in each county, whose duty it should be to assist in holding such courts, the four assistant and associate judges named therein for each county, should, with the chief justice, hold the several superior courts; and that all writs and other processes triable in said courts should issue either from the chief justice or senior assistant judge of the county (Watkins, p. 219). An act of Aug. 5, 1782 provided that the courts of justice for the trial of all criminal matters or such as are carried on in the name and behalf of the state were declared to be henceforth opened, said courts having been greatly interrupted in their proceedings since the first day of July, 1775 (Watkins, p. 254). An act of Feb. 22, 1785 provided for superior courts in Franklin and Washington counties and named for each county four assistant justices, who were empowered, in the absence of the chief justice, to hold the respective superior courts (Watkins, p. 315). An act of Feb. 13, 1786 provided for four assistant justices in each county, whose power should be equal in transacting public business, and declared them, or a majority of them, fully empowered to continue each session of the superior court in the respective counties to which they belonged for a term not exceeding twenty judicial days (Watkins, p. 338). (Note: the chief justice, with other state house officials, was elected annually by the house of representatives during practically all of the period 1777-1789; the assistant justices served during good behavior. In the adjourned session of 1786 a bill for regulating the magistracy of the state was introduced in the house of representatives. On its second reading, "It was moved to strike the following clause in the said bill, viz., 'And whereas the chief justice has been annually appointed within the periods recited in said bill; who being a justice of the peace ought also to be appointed during good behavior, be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that when that office shall again be vacant, it shall be filled up during good behavior.' " The motion carried and the clause was struck out. The bill, however, failed of passage. See MS. House Journal 1786, pp. 504-5, etc.).

The constitution adopted May 6, 1789, effective the first Monday in October following, provided that a superior court should be held in each county twice in every year (art. III, sec. 1) and that the judges and attorney general should have competent salaries, which should not be increased nor diminished during their continuance in office, that they should hold their commissions during terms of three years (art. III, sec. 5) and that election should be by the general assembly (art. IV, sec. 2). An act of Dec. 23, 1789 reorganized the superior courts and replaced the chief justice and assistant justices with two superior court judges; divided the counties of the state into the Eastern and Western judicial districts and fixed the times for holding court twice a year in each county; placed the office of attorney general in commission by dividing the duties between two persons styled the attorney-general and the solicitor-general, one to attend the Eastern and the other the Western district and to exercise the functions of their office jointly or severally, prosecuting all delinquents for crimes and offences cognizable under the authority of the said court and all civil actions in which the state should be concerned and giving his or their advice and opinion, in writing if required, on questions of law to the governor or other officer touching any matters that might concern their department (Watkins, p. 389). An act of Dec. 23, 1791 provided that for the more speedy determination and orderly conducting of all causes in the superior court, that the judges with the attorney or solicitor-general should, at the first meeting, frame a set of rules of proceedings and practice for all parties, practitioners and others, which should be the same in all the said counties and which should not be altered but at a meeting of the said judges, attorney or solicitor-general as aforesaid (Watkins, p. 439). An act of Feb. 25, 1796 provided that three superior court judges be immediately elected at an annual salary of $1,400 each; that the state be divided into three judicial circuits of certain named counties; that the judges meet at Louisville on the second Tuesday after each respective circuit for the purpose of forming rules for the government of the court, determining on such points of law as might be reserved for argument and might require an uniform decision, and for giving their opinions on such constitutional and legal points as may be referred for their consideration by the executive department; that the judges report the trial of every criminal case of a capital nature, which should be published as soon as might be after the trial; that the judges, attorney and solicitors-general frame and agree upon a set of rules of proceedings and practice for all parties, practitioners and others in said courts, which should be the same in all counties and which should not be altered but at a meeting of the said judges, attorney and solicitors-general; that the office of attorney general be vested in and the duties thereof performed by three persons to be styled the attorney and solicitors-general, one to attend the Eastern, one the Middle, and the other the Western circuit, who should execute their office jointly or severally (MS. act on file in the state department of archives and history). An act of Feb. 9, 1797 provided that the three superior court judges should preside in each circuit alternately, so that no two terms should be held by the same judge in the same circuit successively; that the judges, attorney-general and solicitors-general meet annually at Louisville on the 10th of July for forming rules of government for the superior courts, etc.; that the judges report every criminal case of a capital nature, which should be published in one of the public gazettes within sixty days after trial (Watkins, p. 619).

The constitution adopted May 13, 1798 provided that judges of the superior courts should be elected for three-year terms and that the state's attorney and solicitors should be elected by the legislature for three-year terms; that their salaries should be adequate to their services and not increased nor diminished during their continuance in office; and that the courts should sit in each county twice in every year (art. III, secs. 1, 2, 3). An act of Dec. 5, 1801 repealed the law requiring the judges of the superior courts to meet annually at the seat of government for determining on such points of law as might be reserved for argument, etc., and provided that in all cases brought in the superior courts, or either of them, where the judge thereof should be interested therein, three or more of the justices of the inferior court should preside at the trial (Clayton, p. 37). An act of Dec. 8, 1806 authorized judges of the superior courts to alternate in their districts (Clayton, p. 328). An act passed first in December 1834 and second, Dec. 22, 1835, provided four-year terms for judges of the superior courts (Acts 1834, p. 66; Acts 1835, p. 49). An act passed first Dec. 23, 1840 and second Nov. 26, 1841 provided four-year terms for the state's attorney and solicitors, who should be appointed by the legislature and commissioned by the governor (Acts 1840, p. 33; Acts 1841, p. 60). An act of Dec. 10, 1841 required judges of the superior courts to write out and place upon the minutes of said courts their decisions in full in cases of motions for new trials, whether rejected or granted, and upon all cases of judgment upon writs of certiorari, mandamus and habeas corpus and demurrer, and upon motions in arrest of judgment, and provided that said decisions should be furnished the governor who was required to cause them, when of general interest to the people to be properly collated, indexed and printed in pamphlet form in editions of five hundred copies, annually in August (Acts 1841, p. 132). An act of Dec. 29, 1847 provided that as the judges of the superior courts were authorized by law to establish, in convention for such purpose, rules of practice for all superior and inferior courts of the state, that all rules of practice for said courts prescribed by any other authorities were declared null and inoperative (Acts 1847, p. 198). An act of Feb.
21, 1850 made it unlawful for judges of the superior courts to express an opinion to or in the hearing of the jury relative to guilt of the accused and provided that in case of such violation the supreme court should hold the verdict to be reversed and grant a new trial with such directions as they might lawfully make (Acts 1849/50, p. 271). An act of Jan. 12, 1852 made it unlawful for the general assembly to elect or appoint the whole or any portion of the judges of the superior courts and provided that each judicial circuit or district elect one superior court judge (Acts 1851/52, p. 85). An act passed first Feb. 7, 1854 and second Dec. 12, 1855 provided that the state's attorney and solicitors should be elected by the people (Acts 1853/54, p. 24; courts in all cases of felony, or on the final or appeal trial of all civil cases tried before them, should give their charges to the jury in writing and that it should be error for any judges to give any additional charge than that so written out and read (Acts 1860, p. 42).

The constitution adopted Mar. 23, 1861 and ratified July 2, 1861 provided for the appointment of superior court judges, and a state's attorney and solicitors by the governor, with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the senate, for four-year terms
(art. IV, sec. 2, par. I: art. IV, sec. 3, par. 2). The constitution adopted Nov. 7, 1865 provided that until the legislature should otherwise direct, the judges of the superior court, a state's attorney and solicitors, should be elected for four-year terms the first Wednesday in January, immediately before the expiration of the term for which they had been elected or appointed, by a majority vote of the people in the circuit in which they were to serve, qualified to vote for members of the general assembly (art. IV, sec. II, par. 1, and sec. III, par. 2). The constitution ratified in April 1868 provided that the judges of the superior courts, the attorney general and the solicitors-general should be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, for eight-year terms (art. V, sec. 3, par. I, and sec. 9, par. 1).

The constitution adopted Aug. 25, 1877 and ratified the first Wednesday in December following, provided that the judges of the superior courts and the solicitors-general should be elected by the general assembly in joint session for four-year terms, beginning on the first day of January after their election (art. VI, sec. III; art. VI, sec. XI, par. I, and sec. XII, par. 1). An act of Sept. 29, 1879 provided that in all counties in the state having therein a city of 10,000 inhabitants, two or more judges of the superior courts might preside in bank, or said courts might be held in two or more sections at the same time by different judges in separate rooms in the courthouse under such regulations as the judge of the circuit, or in his absence the senior judge in commission present, might direct; all business other than indictments for felonies embraced within act (Acts 1878-79, p. 149). An act of Dec. 24, 1886 amended the act of Sept. 29, 1879 by providing that all business and all causes, civil or criminal, pending or which might be brought in said courts, should be embraced within said act of Sept. 29, 1879 (Acts 1886, p. 34). An act of Dec. 21, 1897 ratified Oct. 5, 1898 provided that judges of the superior courts and solicitors-general be elected by the electors entitled to vote for members of the general assembly of the whole state at the general election next preceding the expiration of their respective terms; that the terms of the judges and solicitors begin on the first day of January after their election; that every vacancy occasioned by death, resignation, or other causes shall be filled by appointments of the governor until the first day of January after the general election held next after the expiration of thirty days after vacancy occurs (Acts 1897, p. 16). An act of Aug. 22, 1905 ratified Oct. 3, 1906 provided that the legislature should give authority to add one or more additional judges of the superior court for any judicial circuit in the state, and from time to time to add to or reduce the number of such judges in any judicial circuit, provided that all times there shall be at least one judge in every judicial circuit in the state (Acts 1905, p. 66). Jurisdiction: The superior court shall have exclusive jurisdiction in cases of divorce, in criminal cases where the offender is subjected to loss of life or confinement in the penitentiary, in cases respecting titles to land, and in equity cases; general jurisdiction in all civil cases, except as may be otherwise provided by the constitution; appellate jurisdiction in all such cases as may be provided by law; and power to correct errors in inferior judicatories by writ of certiorari, which shall only issue on the sanction of the judge (Constitution, art. VI, sec. IV, pars. I, III, IV, V). Eligibility: No person shall be judge of the superior courts unless, at the time of his election, he shall have attained the age of thirty years, shall have been a citizen of the state three years, and have practiced law for seven years; and no person shall be elected solicitor-general unless at the time of his election he shall have attained twenty-five years of age, shall have been a citizen of the state three years, and shall have practiced law for three years next preceding his election (Constitution, art. VI, sec. XIV, par. 1). See also Watkins, pp. 207, 422, 480, 532 and 689.

CITY COURTS, CIVIL COURTS AND COUNTY COURTS

There exist in the State a large number of City Courts, Civil Courts and County Courts, from which appeals lie directly to the Court of Appeals. Each was created by a different local Act of the General Assembly, with the result that each differs from all others in one or more respects. The 1945 Constitution (Art. VI, Sec. 9) expressly relieves City Courts from that uniformity of proceedings, practice and process which is obligatory upon all other courts of the same grade or class. As a general rule, most of them follow closely the practice and procedure of the Superior Courts, and most of them have county-wide jurisdiction over matters which are not reserved exclusively to the Superior Courts.

The Judges and Solicitors of the majority of these Courts are elected in their own counties for four-year terms of office, the qualifications and salary being determined by the Act creating the particular Court.

NOTE: So far as the compiler is able to determine from the records there are functioning at this time, 61 city courts (2 for Gwinnett Co.; 2 for Mitchell Co.); 6 county courts (Atkinson, Baldwin, Clarke, Clinch, Echols, and Putnam). The City Court of Atlanta became the Criminal Court of Fulton Co. from May 1, 1935 (Acts 1935, p. 498). Note: Clayton County, City Court of Clayton County abolished, Ga. L. 1956, p. 2587; DeKalb County, City Court of Decatur abolished, Ga. L. 1956, p. 2932. Atkinson County, County Court of Atkinson created Ga. L. 1958, p. 3178. Magistrate's Court of Clarke Co. created May 1, 1960, Ga. L. 1960, pp. 3208-21.

CHAPTER VI

THE UNIVERSITY SYSTEM OF GEORGIA
The Act of August 28, 1931 (Acts 1931, pp. 20-31) changed to The Regents of the University System of Georgia the name of the corporation theretofore known as The Trustees of the University of Georgia. The Regents of the University System, a corporation, holds legal title for the State, to all of the real and personal property used by all institutions in the University System, and it can sell or purchase any property in its discretion.

The same Act of August 28, 1931 also created the Board of Regents of the University System and the Board was made a constitutional body vested with "the government, control and management of the University System of Georgia and all of its institutions" by the 1945 Constitution (Art. VIII, Sec. 4). The Board of Regents is responsible for the employment of all faculty members and other personnel of the University System and its institutions. It has power to consolidate, suspend and/or abolish institutions; to merge departments; to inaugurate or discontinue courses; and to add or abolish degrees. Under the corporation, for which it is the governing body, the Board exercises full control over the properties of the University System and its component institutions.

The institutions of the University System consists of nine universities and senior college for white students, seven junior colleges for white students and three senior colleges for negro students. The College of Agriculture of the University of Georgia embraces the teaching college, three major agricultural experiment stations, four branch agricultural stations and the Agricultural Extension Service. The Engineering Experiment Station is an integral part of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

The Board of Regents consists of fifteen non-salaried members, all appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. There must be one member from each of the ten congressional districts and five members from the State at large. The terms of office are for seven years each, staggered so that three vacancies occur in one year and two occur in each of the six following years. The Board elects its own chairman and employs its own secretary.

Note: In 1958, three junior colleges were approved by the Board of Regents to be taken into the University System, i.e.,

PROVISIONS AND LAWS ON ELECTION OF
PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT
Together With Comments on The Nomination and Election of Presidential Electors

NUMBER OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS

The U. S. Constitution directs numbers of electors in each State shall be equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which each State is entitled in the Congress. Georgia has two (2) U. S. Senators and since 1930 (under U. S. Census population apportionment) has had ten (10) Congressmen. During the election year for U. S. President and Vice President, the political parties select a presidential elector from each of the ten (10) Congressional Districts. The additional two (2) electors are selected from the state at large. Thus Georgia has twelve (12) votes in the Electoral College.

The electors shall vote for President and Vice President, respectively, in the manner directed by the Constitution.

The electors shall make and sign six certificates of all the votes given by them, each of which certificates shall contain two distinct lists, one of the votes for President and the other of the votes for Vice President and shall annex to each of the certificates one of the lists of the electors which shall have been furnished to them by direction of the executive of the State.

The electors shall seal up the certificates so made by them and certify upon each that the lists of all the votes of such State given for President, and of all the votes given for Vice President, are contained therein.

DISPOSITION OF CERTIFICATES

The declaration together with a list of the votes is then ordered entered on the Journals of the two Houses. [United States Code, 1934 edition, Title 3, sections 5a, 7a, 8, 9a, 11a, 11b, and 11c.]

NOMINATIONS AND ELECTION OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, TOGETHER WITH SUCH INSTRUCTIONS AS ARE IMPOSED UPON THEM BY GEORGIA LAWS

GEORGIA

Nomination of Electors: Nomination by political party. Provisions governing elections of members of General Assembly apply to electors for President and Vice President [Code (1933), §§ 34-1903, 34-2101, 34-2501].

Names on Ballots: In the primary the county or city executive committee, or other party authority of the party holding the election provides official ballots, with the names of all candidates who have properly qualified in accordance with the rules of such party printed thereon. In the general election it is the duty of the county ordinary to provide and furnish official ballots. In case of election for President and Vice President the names of the candidates for such offices may be added with the electors and party designation: Provided, however, It shall not be his duty to place the names of any candidates on the ballot, unless notice of their candidacy is given in the following manner: All candidates for National and State offices, or the proper authorities of the political party nominating them, shall file notice of their candidacy, giving their names and the offices for which they are candidates with the secretary of state as soon as possible after the determination of the result of the second primary [ibid., §§ 34-1903, 34-1904].

Special Instructions to Electors: Requires “their attendance at the capitol on such date as may be fixed by act of Congress, to meet at 12 m., and give their votes for President and Vice President * * * and all acts and proceedings of said electors and other officers, relating to the electoral votes thereof, shall conform to the acts of Congress in such cases made and provided” [ibid., § 34-2502].

ELECTION FOR PRESIDENT, VICE PRESIDENT, ETC.
ACT NO. 251—H.B. 1055
1958
SESSION
OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY
AN ACT

To provide for the election of President and Vice-President of the United States as authorized by the Constitution of the United States; to provide for the nomination and certification of party candidates for such electors; for the printing of the ballot forms for the election of such electors; for the determination of disputes concerning nominations of candidates for such electors; and for the certification of the result of such election; and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA:

SECTION 1

This Act is enacted in pursuance of the power conferred upon the General Assembly by Article II, Section I, Paragraph II, of the Constitution of the United States, which, in prescribing the method whereby the President and Vice-President of the United States shall be elected, provides that "each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector."

SECTION 2

As used in this Act the term "State Executive Committee" shall mean the State executive committee of a political party chosen as provided for at the last preceding regular Georgia State convention of such party held in the State following a statewide primary to nominate such party's candidate for Governor of Georgia, and held pursuant to rules and regulations adopted for such primary. With respect to any party which did not hold a primary to nominate a candidate for Governor for the last preceding general election for Governor, the term "State Executive Committee" shall mean the State executive committee of such party selected at the last preceding regular convention of the party called to nominate a candidate for Governor of Georgia, or, in case such party did not nominate a candidate for Governor for the last preceding general election, to nominate delegates to the last preceding national convention of the party at which a candidate for President was nominated, and attended by delegates from a majority of the counties of Georgia.

SECTION 3

Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, hereinafter referred to as "Presidential Electors," shall be elected on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in every fourth year, by the voters of the State qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, in the manner hereinafter provided.

SECTION 4

The State executive committee of each political party which shall have nominated candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, and which shall have received in the last preceding election at which electors of President and Vice-President were chosen not less than five (5%) per centum of the total number of votes cast in the State, shall at least sixty days before the date of such election, file with the Secretary of State of Georgia, under the official signatures of the Chairman and Secretary of such State executive committee, a list of the nominees of such party for presidential electors. Such nominees shall be chosen by the State executive committee of such party and shall consist of persons who are not disqualified to serve as Presidential electors, under the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of Georgia. Each such State executive committee of such political party shall select and certify to the Secretary of State, as such party's candidates for Presidential electors, as many candidates as the State is entitled to Presidential electors, to wit: a number equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: Provided that at least one candidate for Presidential elector shall be selected and certified from each Congressional district of the State. All of such electors shall be elected from the State at large and not from Congressional districts.

SECTION 5

If any political party which did not nominate candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States at the last preceding election for Presidential electors, or which did not receive five (5%) per centum of the total vote cast in such last preceding election, desires to qualify candidates for Presidential electors, it may do so through the State executive committee of such party, provided such party shall file with the Secretary of State, with its certification of its nominees for Presidential electors, a petition requesting that such nominees be placed upon the official ballot as the nominees of such party, signed by not less than five (5%) per centum of the registered voters in the State, as shown by the registration lists for such last preceding election. Any citizen of Georgia who is qualified to serve as Presidential elector, and who is not the nominee of a political party, may qualify as a candidate for Presidential elector by filing with the Secretary of State, at least sixty days before such general election, notice of his candidacy, accompanied by a petition requesting that his name be placed upon the official ballot as such candidate and signed by not less than five (5%) per centum of the registered voters in the State, as shown by the registration lists for the last general election. Provided, however, that no petition for the qualification of candidates for Presidential electors, either as individuals or as party nominees shall be sufficient unless it shall be signed by at least 200 registered voters residing in each of at least 100 different counties of the State.

SECTION 6

The Governor shall prepare the form of ballots for the election of Presidential electors in the following manner: He shall list in separate columns on the official ballot form for the general election at which such electors are to be elected, the nominees of the various parties, made and certified as hereinbefore provided. He shall list in another separate column the names of citizens who have qualified as candidates for electors and are not nominees of any political party. Each such list of party nominees shall be printed on the ballot under a heading which shall state only that they are the nominees of their political party for Presidential electors. The name of no other candidate or person shall be printed in any such column or elsewhere on the official ballot form as a candidate for elector or as a candidate for President or Vice-President of the United States. The columns listing the names of the nominees of political parties, and the column listing the names of the other candidates who may have qualified hereunder, shall appear on the ballot separately from the columns listing the nominees of political parties, or other candidates, for State offices, including United States Senators and Members of Congress.
SECTION 7

Returns of elections of Presidential electors shall be made to the Secretary of State as provided by law with respect to returns of elections of State-house officers. Such returns shall be consolidated by the Secretary of State and certified by him to the Governor. The Governor shall ascertain and declare the result of the election for Presidential electors and shall notify those persons who receive a majority of the votes cast of the fact of their election as provided by Section 34-2502 of the Code of Georgia. If all or a majority of the electors have not received a majority of the votes cast, electors shall be chosen in the manner provided by Chapter 34-25 of the Code of Georgia of 1933. The State's Presidential electors shall, in their acts, be governed by said Chapter 34-25 of the Code of Georgia, and by the Constitution and laws of the State and the United States.

SECTION 8*

The Governor, the Secretary of State and the Attorney-General shall constitute a Board of Election Commissioners for the administration of this Act. The Governor shall be chairman of the board. They shall decide all controversies that may arise in connection with the qualification of candidates for electors of President and Vice-President and in connection with the administration of this Act, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, all questions as to the form of the language to be printed on the official ballot with reference to the election of electors, all questions as to the authority of persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of any political party in certifying nominees, all questions as to whether any political party is entitled to have the names of its nominees placed on the ballot, all questions as to the sufficiency of any petition of voters submitted hereunder, all questions relating to the time of qualifying, and all questions as to the sufficiency of the certification or qualifying papers of any candidate or nominee for elector, as well as all questions as to whether any such candidate or nominee is disqualified to serve as elector under any provisions of the Constitution or laws of Georgia or of the United States. The decision of the board on any such question shall be final, and shall be followed by the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the ordinaries of the counties of the State, in the preparation of the form of ballot, the conduct of the election, and in the certification and declaration of the result, and in all other matters to which such decision may be relevant.

SECTION 9

It is the intention of this Act to provide for the election of the State's Presidential electors in the method hereinbefore provided, that is, that they shall be chosen as such electors without reference to any candidate for President or Vice-President of the United States and without the names of any candidate for President or Vice-President being printed on the official ballot in connection with the names of candidates for Presidential electors.

SECTION 10

This Act shall supersede Section 34-1904 of the Code of Georgia of 1933, as amended, and all other provisions of Chapter 34-19 of the Code of Georgia of 1933, and all other provisions of law, in so far as such chapter or any such Code section or any such provision of law may relate to the election of electors of President or Vice-President of the United States or the election of President and Vice-President of the United States. It shall not supersede such sections or such chapter of the Code or such laws in so far as they relate to other offices.

SECTION 11

This Act shall be effective upon the Governor's signature for a period of 4 years only and upon expiration of 4 years from the date of such signature the provisions of this Act shall be void and of no effect.

SECTION 12

All laws or parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repelled.

Approved March 21, 1958. ("Section 8" amended: Functions transferred to Elections Commission. See Ga. L., 1959, p. 56.)

Appealed his case to the people and won the right to complete his father's unexpired term in Sept. 1948 primary.

STATE TOTAL 58,274 Sq. Mi.

Ware and Charlton Counties comprise large area of Okefenokee Swamp.

^1Barnwell Island, Beaufort Co., S. C., ceded to Chatham Co., Ga. since 1950 by Federal action.

^2Boundary between Dade and Walker Counties adjusted since 1950.

^3Part of Greene annexed to Morgan.
ESTIMATED POPULATION, URBAN AND RURAL, BY RACE, COUNTY AND CITY, JULY 1, 1950

Estimates are based on Preliminary Census Counts for Georgia, as published in "1950 Census of Population Preliminary Counts," Series PC-2, No. 34 and Series PC-3, No. 10, U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, with adjustments for those persons enumerated elsewhere and for natural increase from April 1, 1950-July 1, 1950. The racial proportions are estimated from changes during the past decade in the ratio of white births to total births registered in the State. Minor adjustments are made for other factors.

The State Department of Public Health makes these estimates each year, primarily to provide bases from which natality, mortality and morbidity rates can be computed for the various counties and cities of Georgia.

(Number of people shown by race for each county and for cities with 2500 or more persons. These estimates include military personnel assigned in the State as of July 1, 1950.)

Note: Cities in more than one county show only total population by race. No race breakdown is available on separate parts.

Military population is excluded from county totals but is included in state total.

1 The urban population is the total of the estimates for all incorporated places shown above plus the military population of the state.

2 Population of the state institutions is excluded from the county totals but is included in the state totals.

Method: These estimates are a three months arithmetic projection of the April 1, 1960 census population, using a percentage distribution of race supplied by the U.S. Census Bureau. Final census population by race had not been published as this estimate was compiled.
