CITY DIRECTORY
For 1897-'98.

Containing an Alphabetical List of Business Firms and Private Citizens, a Directory of City and County Officers, Churches, Schools, Secret, Benevolent, Social and Literary Societies, etc., etc.,

TOGETHER WITH A COMPLETE
Classified Business Directory.

W. G. & M. E. R. FINNEY,
Publishers and Compilers.
BE SURE AND READ THIS!

Directory Hints.

1. Be sure you know the correct spelling of the name you are looking for.

2. Do not think that you know better how it should be spelled than the person for whom you are searching.

3. If you do not find it at once do not jump at the conclusion that it is not in the book; remember, as yet, names are not all spelled phonetically.

4. Remember, also, that many foreign names are Americanized by the younger members of the family, and you will often find a father spelling his name one way whilst the son adopts a more phonetic form. In no country is so much license taken as to the changing of names both in regard to the first or Christian name as well as surname.

5. Publishers should not be held responsible for information given them incorrectly by the public.

6. If the merchants and the public generally would evince more interest in this work the result would be an almost perfect Directory, and hence less fault-finding.

7. A good and well-patronized Directory is to the outer world an index of the progressive character of a city.

8. Show us a Directory well supported by the business firms and we will show you a live city.

9. As your neighbor is as well able as yourself to purchase a Directory, do not lend yours. Every business man should have one of his own.

225 Washington St., near Opera House.
IT is generally admitted that among the many indications of a live and progressive city and one desirable to locate in, is the existence therein of colleges, schools, churches of all denominations, hospitals and other charitable institutions, fraternal societies, clubs, social, literary and musical, etc., and when these are accompanied by good municipal government controlling efficient fire, health and police departments, there is not much else to be desired.

Athens can justly lay claim to possessing all of the above named advantages and should advertise the fact far and wide as does the live, progressive merchant his wares.

Especially has she a right to boast of and feel proud of her Fire Department and its Chief, G. W. McDorman, whose portrait we present above, and under whose management it has reached its present efficiency—her citizens can retire to rest feeling assured that should "one of the best of servants but worst of masters." visit them in their slumbers, the Chief, and his force, will quickly be on the spot and arrest its ravages.
