To the right of the document, the text is not clearly legible due to the condition of the page. It appears to be a historical or legal document, possibly written in Latin or an old English dialect. The text is fragmented and obscured, making it difficult to transcribe accurately. Additional context or a clearer image would be necessary to provide a meaningful translation or interpretation.