Sir,

I have the honor to submit to your favorable consideration a request for the appointment of Captain Samuel J. Harman, my present lieutenant, to the rank of Major. He has long been engaged in recruiting and organizing the troops of the 1st Brigade, 2nd Division, 2nd Brigade, and has been most active in the field. His zeal and energy have been constantly manifested in the interests of the service.

He is a native of the State of New York, and has been a resident of this city for many years. His knowledge of the country and his experience in military matters make him eminently qualified for the position to which he is applied.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

Instructions for Picket Duty.

1. The sentinels will be posted by two; one will occupy the post, the other will be moving constantly around the neighborhood; at the expiration of an hour, the moving sentinel will occupy the post and the other take his stand in examining the neighborhood. The moving sentinel (called a flying sentinel) will conceal himself from view as much as possible, avoiding himself of every cover that may be at hand, and giving a vigilant attention to every thing that occurs of a nature to excite suspicion, communicating frequently with the sentinels or other reliefs the events of their watch, but the need not go out of their way in that purpose.

2. All unusual noises, lights & movements will be sustained closely by the officers or privates as an indication of possible and immediate report to the officer of the guard. If it is too distant to be easily reached, the information will be conveyed through the adjutant pickets.

3. The officer of the guard will always leave near where he may be found. He will not be required to remain at any one post, but may pass from post to post, wherever he may deem his presence necessary. He will carefully from observation such of his guard as may not be on post as sentinels. On receiving important information of any movement which ought to be known. Should he find the guard improper or disorderly, he will proceed immediately to the commandant of this post.

4. He will exercise a reasonable discretion in permitting persons to pass the posts, but in general will be governed as follows: to pass through the day, all persons with permits from the officers of the guards; officers in uniform on the communication of their names and rank; soldiers or laborers with special permits from a commissioner of their company or regiment; gentlemen or surgeons, blacksmiths, and on the honor, persons with permits from the commander of this post. Persons with permits from their travels, trades or employers, or with market carts, or articles for sale in the city or market, if on post they must have a license to sell; no persons will be allowed to pass either to or from the city, either with or without permits, after dark or storm.

5. The officer of the guard will report on meeting any person to whom he is shown, all important occurrences that take place during his time of duty, notifying such persons or may pass the sentinels with whom he is unacquainted. He will must all persons attempting to pass without proper authority and forward them to the proper guard to this post.

6. The time of duty will commence at 2 o'clock P.M. The sentinels will be relieved at each picket every two hours. All reliefs will go in duty at the same time.
